REVOLT AGAINST RUSSIAN SOVIET

Organized Rebellion Growing With Renewed Force in Ukraine

Many Towns Taken—Soviets in Campaign of Terrorism—Execute 2000

STOCKHOLM, April 23.—Organized rebellion against the Russian soviet government is growing with renewed force in Ukraine, it is declared in telegrams received here from Petrograd. Peasants engaged in the revolt have taken many towns between the Dnieper and Dniester rivers, where the movement is most pronounced, and they are reported to be engaged in operations intended to force the Bolsheviks eastward to the left bank of the Dnieper.

Ukrainian peasants commanded by General Makno, operating in the Lozovo district, south of Karkov, have torn up the railway line running between Moscow and the Crimea. The Bolsheviks have concentrated troops in the district north of Kiev, where they have driven back the rebels, and in the neighborhood of Smolensk, northwest of Moscow, have begun a campaign of terrorism. It is reported they have executed 2000 persons within the past few days.

The rebellion is said to be spreading in the regions of Karkov and Polesia.

A WEEK OF WEATHER OF MANY VARIETIES

A week that was about as full of varieties of April weather as could be crowded into seven days came to an end today with high humidity, lowering sky, and during the morning intermittent drenching showers that went through umbrella coverings as though they were of cheese cloth and sent swollen rivulets flowing in the street gutters.

The week had almost as many varieties of weather as any manufacturer of food commodities has ever yet advertised as being on the list of his products. A start was made with cold that made the person who had clung tenaciously to his heaviest "heavies" during preceding warm spells rejoice that he had not yielded to the temptation to discard them, and brought heavy overcoats out to replace lighter coverings. A miniature blizzard of snow that fortunately melted as soon as it fell came with the cold. A slight

Paris Papers Comment Extensively on American Reply to German Request

One Paper Says Note Opens Way to Guarantee of Permanent Peace

PARIS, April 23.—(By the Associated Press).—Today's newspapers commented extensively on the American reply to Germany's request for mediation, which reached Paris too late for discussion in yesterday morning's newspapers. The interest in the reply even eclipsed that in the Lymagne conference between Premier Lloyd George and Briand.

"President Harding evaded the pitfall into which President Wilson fell. He refuses to be the umpire between the creditors and the debtors. President Harding wishes to help us, but upon the condition that we know what we want."

The figure says: "The United States invites us to find a speedy solution of the reparations problem, and the French government must express clearly and concisely what it wants."

The Royalist newspaper, L'Ancien France, edited by Leon Daudet, says: "President Harding evaded the pitfall into which President Wilson fell. He refuses to be the umpire between the creditors and the debtors. President Harding wishes to help us, but upon the condition that we know what we want."

TABULATING VOTE OF BAY STATE CARMEN

BOSTON, April 23.—Ballots cast by employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, Thursday and Friday on several questions having to do with wage and working agreements and a possible strike were being tabulated today at union headquarters here.

Announcement of the result, union leaders said, probably would be made late in the afternoon. Five questions were on the ballots. One had to do with the acceptance of a proposition for a wage reduction of about 20 per cent. under agreement between the union and the trustees who control the road, a second dealt with a proposition of the company for arbitration of the wage question without agreement with the union. Two other questions related to the acceptance of the conference board's proposals to the company, including provision for an arbitration plan. In the fifth question the men were asked whether, if no agreement could be reached, they wished to suspend work to enforce arbitration. The date of suspension under this vote would be left to the joint conference board and international officers.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Defendant Charged With Manslaughter is Discharged—Other Cases

Lawrence Roark, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Daniel Dirinski, 5, was discharged in the police court this morning. An inquest held earlier in the week rendered a finding to the effect that death was not due to criminal negligence on the part of the defendant. The court ordered that the case be dismissed on the grounds of the inquest finding. The Dirinski boy was knocked down by an auto truck driven by Roark on Middlesex street, March 11. He sustained fatal injuries, and died at the Lowell Corporation hospital on the following day.

Other Cases Heard
Daniel J. Murphy pleaded guilty to drunkenness and not guilty to assault and battery on Samuel T. Moors and Maude Allen. It was testified that Murphy attacked Moors in the course of an altercation about money, and that when the Allen girl came to Moors' assistance she, too, was assaulted. Murphy claimed that Moors refused to pay him for some plastering, and that when he threatened to tear down what he had finished, Moors seized him by the throat. After hearing all the evidence, Judge Enright lectured Murphy for his "cantankerous" disposition when in liquor, and continued the matter for two weeks to allow the defendant an opportunity to amend his behavior.

The case of Abraham Amin, charged with non-support of his wife, was dismissed for lack of prosecution, when Continued to Page Twelve

WOMEN FIGHT TO GET OUT OF CARS

Lexington Avenue Tube Flooded as Hundreds Are on Way to Work

Passengers Cross Tracks on Improvised Platforms—Many Drenched

Number of Women Fainted in Wild Scramble to Escape—Traffic Officer Hero

NEW YORK, April 23.—Passengers became frantic and many, including a number of women screamed and fought to get out of cars when a big water main burst and flooded the Lexington avenue subway as hundreds were on their way to work this morning.

The accident occurred near Spring street about 9 o'clock. At 10:30 o'clock officials of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. said the break had been located and pumps were being used to drain the tube.

All trains between the Grand Central station and Brooklyn bridge were halted by the automatic safety block system. Passengers on a stalled express train near the Bleecker street station, a short distance from the scene of the break, left the cars and crossed the tracks on improvised board platforms. Many were drenched when they reached the street.

Five trains stopped near the break. Passengers on one train became frantic, police said. Women screamed and fought to get out of the cars. A number fainted. Traffic Officer Harry Kuyfrien, stationed near Astor place, took charge of the rescue work. Assisted by company employees, he personally saw more than 600 passengers were taken from the cars and led to exits. Two women and one man remained in one car for some time, saying they were afraid to leave.

CITY WILL HAVE TO PAY MORE FOR CEMENT

Lowell cement dealers have not taken very kindly to the action of Purchasing Agent Edward H. Foye in rejecting all bids for cement for the use of the street and sewer departments during the present season in accordance with a suggestion of the chamber of commerce that some method be devised whereby the city may benefit by the expected drop in the price of this material.

A few days ago Mr. Foye asked local dealers to submit bids on one carload of cement and this morning when bids were opened at 11 o'clock it was found that only two proposals had been received. One was from the Cawley Coal company, and the other from Daniel T. Sullivan. The Cawley company offered a bid of $23.33 per barrel with a 10-cent rebate for each bag and the Sullivan bid was $24.43 per barrel with a 10-cent rebate. The E. A. Wilson company, the low bidder on the supply for the season, did not submit a bid on the single carload. The city will have to pay slightly more for the first carload under the present system than if it had accepted the Wilson bid of $23.29 per barrel.

MOVE FORWARD—NOT BACKWARD

Don't forget to turn forward the hands of your watch and clock one hour before you retire this evening, or you will find yourself an hour behind time when you awake tomorrow morning.

While you are sleeping, the new Massachusetts daylight saving law will go into effect and if you want to live up to the law, you'd better get all set this evening. At 2 o'clock tomorrow morning, the hands of all clocks in the Commonwealth should be pushed forward an hour and not changed until 2 o'clock on the last Sunday in September.

That means that you'll lose an hour's sleep tonight, but you will make it up in September. The clocks in the railroad stations will not be affected by the new time as the railroads are to continue to operate by standard time. However, they have rearranged their schedules somewhat so as to conform with daylight saving time. New timetables were available at the Boston & Maine station here this morning.

BLACKJACKED BUT HELD ON TO $4000

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 23.—Cecil Campbell, 20, a messenger for the Wolverine Motor company, was blackjacked by a man while returning from a bank with $4000 today. He fought clear of his assailant and saved the money.

The assault took place a block from the factory, which place Campbell reached before he collapsed. The money was for the payroll. At the hospital Campbell is being treated for possible fracture of the skull.

Lloyd George and Briand Discuss Plans to Collect Reparations

Germany's Offer to Aid in Reconstruction Not Seriously Considered

LYMPNE, England, April 23.—(By the Associated Press).—Exchanges which have been going on for some weeks between the British and French foreign offices relative to what can and ought to be done to collect reparations from Germany will be continued here today by Prime Minister Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Briand.

Home Brew Explodes as Lawyer Declares Beverage Did Not Contain Kick

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., April 23.—While defending Richard Coppersmith in court on a charge of manufacturing home brew, B. P. Enders picked up a bottle as he questioned a witness. "Would you call this?" began the attorney.

He was interrupted by a loud report. Flying glass from the bottle cut an artery in his wrist and broke a lens of his glasses. The defense had entered the trial with the contention that the beverage did not contain enough "kick" to come within the state bone-dry law.

Germany's Attitude on Demand for Gold

PARIS, April 23.—(By the Associated Press).—Germany, instead of either agreeing or refusing to transfer the gold reserve of the Reichsbank to occupied territories in the Rhineland, as the allied reparations commission had demanded, has offered to agree not to export or permit the exportation of gold from Germany before Oct. 1, next.

Germany's note in reply to the reparations commission delivered to the commission today, in which this offer is tendered, says her proffered agreement would adequately protect the allies, who had demanded the transfer, because the second paragraph of Article 248 of the treaty of Versailles, prohibiting the exportation of gold, becomes operative May 1.

The note was signed by Dr. Von Cernzen, for the war burdens commission. It pointed out that the removal of the reichsbank's gold would act further to depreciate German exchange, and further that the gold reserve was not directly under the control of the ministry of finances, but was private property.

The transfer, the note contended, would not serve as a guarantee for

CONG. ROGERS FAVORS NAVAL DISARMAMENT FOR NATIONS

Meantime Would Have Navy Second to None—Senator Moses Moves for Memorial to Soldiers in France—Vice President in Strange Mixup With Women

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—Congressman John Jacob Rogers has introduced a bill providing for a big navy until such time as an international conference can be called by the president, at which the five great nations of the world would discuss naval disarmament. Mr. Rogers believes the latter step should be taken by President Harding at the earliest possible moment. Authority of congress must first be obtained, so Mr. Rogers put in the dual bill hoping to hasten matters in that direction. The president has made it known that he endorses an international conference along that line, but that he feels the call for it should wait until formal peace has been declared with Germany.

The position assumed by Mr. Rogers is that it would be neither safe nor wise for the United States to disarm until England, France, Japan and perhaps one or two more of the great nations of the world agree to such a course. Until that time comes, Mr. Rogers advocates a "second to none" navy for the United States.

As Mr. Rogers is a ranking member of the foreign affairs committee and in a position to know the details of our foreign relations and needs in matters of international affairs better than most men who can obtain only outside information, his bill is attracting much attention and meets with very general and hearty approval from members of congress. Mr. Rogers calls attention to the need of naval disarmament as soon as possible, in order to lessen the tremendous burden of taxation now resting on the American people. He states that this government is now spending over $5,000,000 a day "as insurance against future wars," and urges a reduction as soon as it is safe to do away with such enormous expenditures in way of army and navy forces.

In a talk with The Sun correspondent regarding details of the bill and the need of such action, Mr. Rogers said in part: "Ever since I came to congress I have been in favor of preparedness. I trust the disarmament measures will not be mistaken for sympathy with pacifists. With existing conditions in Europe, I do not believe there can be any disarmament in the near future. France is in dread of Germany. Poland and other nations of Eastern Europe are in terror of invasion by the Russian Bolsheviks, and other nations feel they must be ready to resort to arms at a moment's notice. Unless Europe disarms it would not be prudent for the United States to do so. But with naval disarmament it is entirely different. Only five or six nations possess navies worthy of the name. They are the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, and perhaps one or two more. If these half dozen powers agree on a naval program it would instantly become world-wide in effectiveness. Naval strength is relative not actual. The important element is how the strength of the United States compares to the strength of other great powers. By agreement to limit armament a great burden of taxation would be lifted from all nations. No nation can afford to fail to keep up its navy and fall back into a position of inferiority. The United States has now about 50,000 tons of fighting vessels. Great Britain has twice that tonnage, and Japan about one-half. Suppose the United States stopped building and

Great Britain and Japan kept on, then we should fall into third place or even lower. In my judgment, such a course would be suicidal. I am not a pacifist but I believe an international program for disarmament should be established as quickly as possible.

The president has no authority to call such a conference without specific authority from congress, so I am urging it shall be granted him without delay. I do not think it necessary to make it a world-wide conference, but only of the great powers, as an agreement could be more quickly reached in that way, and other nations have such small navies or none at all, so their co-operation is not so essential. Such a conference should be held in the United States. General Pershing, General Bliss, Ellhu Root and many other men of experience in international affairs believe such a conference would produce direct and instant good. My belief is, that the world is yearning for peace, and no country could resist the demands that an effective peace plan be effected. Although the United States is less heavily taxed than are some other nations, yet we are now spending more than $5,000,000 a day as an insurance against future war, although no war is in sight.

Memorial to Soldiers in France

One of the measures introduced in the senate within a week was by Senator Moses of New Hampshire, who proposes that a splendid memorial shall be erected in France in memory of the American soldiers, sailors and marines who lost their lives in the great war. He asks for an appropriation of $1,500,000 for that purpose and believes the memorial should be of such grandeur and dignity that it will fittingly represent the gratitude of the United States to its heroic dead. Many plans for a memorial to be erected overseas have been submitted at different times, ranging all the way from separate small shafts scattered over France, to one big memorial structure such as is embodied in the Moses bill. There is strong probability some plan will be agreed on at the present session.

Speaker Gillett this week asked railroads to grant special rates to veterans desiring to attend the Grand Army encampment if it is held in Springfield. Vice President in Comical Mixup

One of the most amusing incidents of the congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, now being held here, was when the president, general, Mrs. Minner of Connecticut, and Vice President Coolidge, who was to make the opening address, got their titles mixed. It happened this way: Mrs. Minner is, of course, accustomed to address the officers of that organization as "Vice president general." And to Mr. Coolidge, the difference between D.A.R.'s and the D.R. is entirely negligible. And this is what occurred: "I have the honor to present to you the vice president general of the United States," announced Mrs. Minner, as she stepped forward with Mr. Coolidge, to whom the title of "general" was a misfit. He ignored the little slip, but some of the audience uttered. After turning to Mrs. Minner with a low bow, Mr. Coolidge inadvertently broke even with her by addressing the assemblage of 2000 women as "Daughters of the Revolution," entirely omitting their distinctive title of "American," and thus confounding them with a rival society.

That was too much for the dignity of even representatives of colonial heroes and the whole house laughed outright. Quickly catching the humor of the situation, Mr. Coolidge smiled on Mrs. Minner and remarked, "Apparently we are quits." Another amusing incident was when the ambassador from Great Britain, who had sensed the humor of the Minner-Coolidge incident, followed it up by addressing the great assemblage of women as "D-A-R—lings." And that was left to clasp the climax unchallenged. RICHARDS.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Plans for a "return call" on the R-34, Great Britain's monster dirigible which visited America in 1919, by a United States navy navigable balloon of even greater dimensions, have been abandoned at least for the coming summer.

Work on the largest and fastest dirigible ever designed continues at the Philadelphia navy yard, but has been retarded through lack of appropriations, and those in charge of the construction of the great craft of the clouds say it probably will be a year before she is completed.

The airship is usually referred to as being "built" here. As a matter of fact she is being fabricated. Metal parts are being made in the navy's local aircraft factory—metal parts which will be neatly numbered and lettered, and then put in cases for shipment to the place decided upon for assembling them.

Two places are under consideration for the actual bringing of the ship into being. One is Lakehurst, N. J., and the other is Cape May, the southernmost tip of the same state. At Lakehurst the housing conditions for workmen are declared to be good, but the hangars not of the best. At Cape May the situation is reversed. Naval officials recently said that it might be until fall before a decision is made.

The airship will be 500 feet long, 85 feet wide, and will have a possible cruising radius, when equipped with guns, of 6,000 miles. This will enable it to cross the Atlantic and return without refueling. When fully equipped, the cruising radius will be reduced to 1800 miles.

Naval officers declare the ship will be superior in every way to the British R-34, the first lighter than air machine to cross the Atlantic. The speed of the craft has not yet been definitely determined.

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

THEN AND NOW

School Training Twenty-five Years Ago and Today

Were the school-children of 25 years ago given a more thorough training than the youngsters of today? Apparently, like so many other matters, it is all in the way you look at it. Back in the nineties, the number of authorized text-books for the Lowell schools were certainly much fewer in number. But the opinion might be defended that a small list of carefully selected volumes, pored over again and again by the child, carried more real learning than a wide variety of books dilly-dallying with more or less exhaustiveness. Of course it is presumptuous for the layman, unacquainted with the general way with the mysteries of modern pedagogy, to venture an opinion on how the boys and girls should be taught. But doubtless some of the old folks will insist that the old-fashioned method of having a few "readers" and "geographies" and such was preferable to the system in vogue now, of offering a host of works on all subjects touched upon in the school curriculum. According to the annual report of the Lowell public schools for 1919, there were 19 geographies authorized for use in the elementary schools of this city during that year. Besides these volumes, there were 22 more books classed as "geographical readers." As for history, there were eight different books, together with a brace of historical readers. Of plain "readers" there were 25, including such titles as "Boy Blue and His Friends," "Cherry Tree Children," and "Dolly and Dolly." Some of the old-timers recall a day when the same reader was used again and yet again, until its selections were imprinted on the memory for life. These members of a former generation are no doubt sure that the reading books of today's schools can't compare with the tomes of yesterday. Horace's phrase "laudator temporis acti" is just as expressive in this day and generation as it was when Augustus held his golden swart.

What do the high school children of Lowell read nowadays, by way of literature? That's another interesting phase of local education. By referring to the 1919 school report again, we discover scores of volumes listed as authorized text-books in English. We are immediately startled, as we scan this lineup, not by the books which are present, but by the fact that completely missing from the ranks is "Hamlet." While "Coriolanus" and "Henry Fifth" are included, the greatest work of all is lacking. Another peculiarity which strikes one is that while Southey's "Life of Nelson" is found, there is not an American biography of any kind. Whittier is omitted and Holmes is represented by "Grandmother's Story."

Adventures of The Twins

GRANNY CHANGES MIND

MISS HIPPO AGREED AND THE FOUR STARTED OFF

Flippety-Flap played a tune on his mouth-organ called "Over the Hills and Far Away," and all the time he was playing Miss Hippo (not cross Old Granny) watched him with her great stick-out eyes, and listened with her little stick-out ears, and swayed her tiny stick-down tail in the muddy river where she was standing.

When the fairman stopped she sighed loudly and said, "Beautiful! Then Flippety-Flap played another tune and Miss Hippo said "Exquisite!" and by the time he had played five, she had run out of words altogether.

"Ah," she sighed, "What do you call these pleasant sounds, may I ask?"

"Music!" answered Flippety-Flap. "Do you like it?"

"Like it?" exclaimed Miss Hippo. "Who could help it?"

"Then," said Flippety-Flap quickly, "how would you like to go to a place where there is a hundred times as much music as this and live in a tent in a magnificent red-and-gold wagon and have all the food you wish to eat, and—"

"Stop!" cried Miss Hippo eagerly. "Where is this wonderful place?"

Nancy and Nick explained that it was a circus, and that they would take her right away if she cared to go.

Miss Hippo agreed instantly, so the four of them started off.

Just then Old Granny Hippo lifted her head out of the muddy water and saw what was happening.

"Humph!" she snorted. "Humph! That young upstart of a neighbor of mine thinks she is handsomer than I am, and she's heading for the circus if I'm not mistaken. But I'll see that she doesn't take my place. I'm not too old to be beautiful." And off started Granny at their very heels.

That's why the circus has two rhinoceros this year instead of one, and if the callopie still misses its last note, Granny doesn't dare to say a word.

IRISH RELIEF DRIVE WOMEN WHO WOULD RECOVER STRENGTH

Ward Canvass, Carnival Mute Cross and Opera House Benefit

Should Try the Tonic Treatment That Mrs. Bentley Suggests

It was a rousing meeting of the Irish relief fund committee that gathered at Elks' hall on Middle street last evening to promote the drive which will be on in earnest next week for a general canvass of the city by wards and reports by a number of organizations that have promised liberal contributions.

James O'Sullivan presided and in opening made an encouraging address based upon the reports thus far received. Mr. Fred H. Bourke, county supervisor, reported that headquarters had been opened at 312 Merrimack street where contributions would be received and official receipts issued for the same. John Bourke and Miss Melton are in charge and will keep the quarters open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., except on Sunday.

Chairman Peter McKenna of the Flying Squadron made an enthusiastic report on the canvass of the downtown district and stated that a number of very substantial contributions had been received which would be published later in the press.

Chairman O'Sullivan announced that he had been notified that several of the organizations which promised to contribute said they would be ready to turn in their contributions next week. The committee arranged to have a meeting next Friday night at which these and other reports will be received and the lists given out for publication.

White Cross Sale

Maj. Thos. Daly, in charge of the white cross banner sale, reported that he had a large committee ready to go to work today. The white cross window curbs or banners are similar to those of the Red Cross and are to be sold for $1 each for the benefit of the fund.

There was a general discussion of the ward canvass which is now in progress and ward 1 is the only district without an organized committee. Mr. Peter McKenna reported that a captain would probably be selected before Monday so that the canvass might proceed next week. All the house-to-house canvassers have credentials, bearing the signature of Fred H. Bourke, and no contributions should be made to any canvasser who cannot show such credentials. Mrs. Beatty, one of the most energetic workers in the Belvidere district, was appointed to take charge of the canvass in ward 9, precincts 1 and 2, and she stated that she would have to rely for assistance upon President Clark of the Y.M.C.A. and members of the Paul Kitteredge council, A.A.R.R.

Carnival

Mr. Kelly of the Casino reported everything in readiness for the carnival to be conducted there next week and enumerated a great many features that are sure to prove quite popular. There will be a midway and new amusement features every night during the week. The committee urged its members and the friends of the movement to use their efforts in making the carnival a great success.

Opera House

Announcement was also made that the manager of the Opera House will donate half the proceeds of Monday's performance to the fund. The play to be offered on that occasion is entitled, "That Girl Patsy," and Miss Field is to assume the role of the little Irish girl. It is needless to comment upon Miss Field's talents as an actress as her ability is well known to the Lowell public. It is expected that the Opera House will be crowded at both performances on Monday.

Dr. Rooney was appointed captain for ward 8 and will have an efficient give me the good old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs in preference to the new fangled patent medicines on the market. I remember that when I had indigestion, was constipated, had a headache or my stomach was out of order, my mother would give me an old and reliable remedy called SEVEN BARKS and it would straighten me out in no time, so I always keep a bottle in the home for emergencies.

Colds and Grippe frequently will leave you with weak kidneys and aching back. The kidneys get overworked fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. When the stomach is out of order, the kidneys and liver not working properly, a few doses of SEVEN BARKS will stimulate the liver and kidneys, regulate the flow of bile, expel distressing acids and dangerous poisons, and quickly restore you back to good digestion.

For nearly half a century SEVEN BARKS has been recognized as one of the most reliable remedies for correcting and preventing disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is absolutely safe, made from the extracts of roots and herbs, scientifically blended.

If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results. Your druggist keeps it, or will get it for you.—Adv.

Mrs. William Bentley, of No. 515 Arch street, New Britain, Conn., says that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful tonic. She was in a condition that is common with many women who are growing weaker and more nervous every day and cannot recover their strength.

"The birth of my child left my system all run-down and my general health broken," says Mrs. Bentley. "It seemed each day that my housework was more than I had the strength to do. My nerves were on edge most of the time and very often I had hard headaches. I worried over small things and had no appetite. I became pale and lost some weight. One day I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the newspaper and bought a box. By the time I had used the first box I was eating heartily and feeling so much better that I determined to keep up the treatment. Very soon I found that I no longer had headaches, was not worrying and that I could do my work with no very great effort. I think that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful tonic and have often recommended them for cases similar to my own."

The headaches and backaches disappear like magic when this blood is made rich and red. This is due to the new strength and vigor that the revitalized blood supplies to the nerves. Tired women everywhere should give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 60 cents per box postpaid. Write today for copy of the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

corps of canvassers start out next week.

Another important event on the program for the fund is a stereopticon lecture upon "Ireland as She Is," by Rev. Fr. O'Connor of Cork, Ire., a brilliant young clergyman whose lecture is endorsed by the Daily Mirror and officers of the Irish republic. It is down for May 8 at the Opera House.

CATHOLIC NEWS

The missions being conducted at St. Michael's and St. Margaret's churches this week by Dominican fathers for the women of those parishes, will come to a close tomorrow afternoon with the usual services, consisting of the recitation of the rosary, sermon, blessing of candles, renewal of baptismal vows and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Tomorrow evening the men's mission in each parish will open and will continue for a week.

The women's missions have been very largely attended at both churches and the sermons by the Dominican preachers have been both inspiring and eloquent. Large numbers of women have received communion during the past few days.

Tomorrow evening members of the Passionist order will open a two weeks' mission in St. Peter's church. The first week will be for the women and the second for the men.

Daylight saving time will be observed in all the Catholic churches tomorrow. Members of the various congregations last Sunday were requested to turn the hands of their watches or clocks forward one hour before retiring this evening.

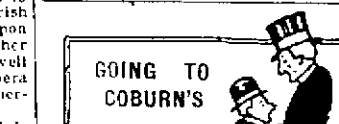

A class of over 400 boys and girls of St. Joseph's parish will receive the sacrament of confirmation Tuesday, May 2. The ceremony will be conducted in St. Jean Baptiste church at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and it is believed Rev. Rev. Bishop Anderson will officiate. The girls are in the care of Rev. Augustin Gratton, O.M.I., while the boys are being prepared by Rev. Charles Denzot, O.M.I.

BEN FRANKLIN STATUE ESCAPES DUCKING

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., April 23.—The Benjamin Franklin statue, en route to Waterbury, Conn., was threatened with immersion in Huttan bay yesterday.

The statue, towed on an automobile truck, was being hoisted aboard a navy lighter when the cable slipped. The truck, then poised six feet above the deck, landed squarely on all four wheels.

More than 10,000 persons, who had gathered to watch the loading, held their breath in suspense. Upon examination the statue was found to be unharmed by the fall. The statue left last night for New York.

WAR SETTLEMENT Viviani's Tribute to American Legion

NEW YORK, April 23.—A wireless message of congratulations to the American Legion, sent by Rene Viviani, now en route to France after a special mission to this country, was made public here today by Marcel Knecht, his secretary, while he was in this country. The message read: "Before returning to France, I cannot refrain from expressing my affectionate greetings to the American Legion, to its national commander, Col. F. W. Galbraith, Jr., and to the commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, my beloved and valiant friend, General John J. Pershing. I shall never forget the enthusiastic mass meeting where I saw in front of me the courageous soldiers assembled to listen to the voice of France. I hail them, and I await expectantly their visit to France this year. Amongst the great people who love them, they will find anew the image of the great country which they honor."

Time for Action and Not "Pow-Wows," Says Stinnes

PARIS, April 23.—"As long as such 'pow-wows' between politicians, whose acts are controlled by the chambers and the press, continue, we shall never get anywhere," Hugo Stinnes, the German financier and industrial magnate, is reported to have told the Inter-Allied correspondent in Berlin.

Herr Stinnes is quoted further as saying: "Business men should meet and discuss matters without hindrance. There must be no more conferences where each member places a loaded revolver in his hand. We must have a consultation of physicians to find a remedy for a sick world which cannot be cured with speeches, flags, music and war whoops."

picture producers now in the field, it is a difficult problem to choose from their releases the best obtainable programs for presentation to an established clientele of photoplay lovers.
But Manager Noyes has succeeded in accomplishing this task at the Merrimack Square theatre. Week after week the programs at this amusement house have shown in courses of careful discrimination and more than once a production which was about to be thrown on the Merrimack Square screen has been cancelled in favor of a later and better feature.

The Sunday program will be in accord with this theatre's policy. "Always Good Shows." From Monday will be seen in "The Love Special," one of its best features and in addition there will be a big Rex Beach dramatic production, "The Silver Horde."
The feature for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be Wallace Reid in "The Love Special," and Marion Davies in "Buried Treasure." Wallace Reid is widely known as the athletic star. This is perhaps because of the many outdoor pictures in which he has appeared and wherein he has shown in many striking and realistic scenes, his athletic prowess. He has been seen in many thrilling action counters, he has raced madly around the great automobile courses for scenic in a series of auto pictures—in fact in nearly every photoplay in which he has been seen his physical powers have been displayed.

Thus it is apparent that "The Love Special," a powerful railroad story, the scenes of which are laid in the mountains, is an ideal subject for a Wallace Reid picture. This is doubtlessly one of the most thorough outdoor stories with which the star has been provided as the basis for a photoplay. It is of the same type of story as "The Valley of the Giants," in which Mr. Reid scored a big hit.
In the new production the star plays the role of a construction developer and the majority of the scenes are exterior, filmed on mountain locations.
The story is a most interesting and exciting supporting cast assists Mr.
Reid.

In beauty and lavishness, "Buried Treasure," the other feature for the first half of the evening, is a picture which is a leading among the new productions of its kind. It is fair to estimate that something like half a million dollars have been spent for the scenes shown in the picture. The story replete with romance and spirited action. The heroine, the daughter of a Wall street capitalist, goes into a trance from which she develops a story of old Spain, of pirate ships, mines and battle, the characters in her own life being but regenerations of the life of long ago. The girl guides her sweetheart to an island where he located buried treasure and they are married.

A Sonnet comedy, "The Unhappy Finish," and the International News will also be shown. "Woman's Problem" and "A Voice in the Dark" will be the features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

THE STRAND THEATRE

"Pleasure Seekers" and "The Little Foot" at the Strand for First Three Days of the Week

Another series of superior three photoplays is scheduled for presentation at The Strand for the coming week. General Manager Corio has Elaine Hammerstein picture from the screen success, "Pleasure Seekers," and "The Little Foot" from the novel by Jack London and presented by an all-star cast headed by Milton Silles.

society, but pays little attention to it.
Then enters the third party, Evan Graham, an old chum, falls in love with her and is loved in return. Dick gives his wife the choice of leaving him. A thrilling and suspenseful story, and the husband surrenders himself to despair. The working out of the situation is masterly.

"Number 17," Louis Tracy's popular novel of love and mystery in New York, with George Walsh appearing in the principal role, is the leader on the program for the last three days. It is the story of a man who, threatened by a terrible danger to himself and to those he loves most dearly, fights single-handed a battle of wits with a gang of criminals. Supporting Mr. Walsh is a very strong cast, including Mildred Reardon, Charles Mussette, Lillian Beck and others of equal screen note.

"Rich Girl," Poor Girl," starring Gladys Walton, is a 90-minute portrayal of a girl who, through a series of circumstances, finds herself in a position of poverty. The star plays a child of the slums and an heiress of millions.

Charlie Chaplin in one of his best comedy productions of the screen, will be the third feature on the bill and this, too, will add materially to the entertaining value of the offering.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE:

Delightful Comedy Drama For Next Week—Performances Monday to And Irish Relief Fund

"That Girl Patsy" said to be one of the most delightful comedy dramas of the season, penned by Sumner Nichols, will be the week's production by the Lowell Players at the Opera House beginning with matinee of Monday. The play is a reflection of life in New York and is said to have all the satisfying elements that go in the making of a successful stage presentation of this particular brand. Patricia Davis, known to her intimates as "Patsy," is a vivacious and decidedly clever girl with a talent for mimicry, and is pressed into service to play a part in an entertainment given by the "East Side Working Girls' Club." Mrs. Warren of Fifth Avenue, one of the patronesses of the club chances to be on hand to see the performance and is attracted to Patsy when she hears her defend a girl companion who has been unjustly accused of wrong doing. So interested does she become in the girl that she finally decides to educate her and takes her to her luxurious home in Fifth Avenue. Here Patsy meets various members of the "four hundred" and eventually is enabled to repay her benefactress by righting numerous wrongs, big and little, and incidentally opening the eyes of the idle upper class to a new view of life. She saves the woman's daughter from the clutches of a typical "lounge lizard" awakens Mr. Warren, a Wall street broker, to his duties as a man and a citizen, helps some love making and mends others and stirs things up generally. Finally Bob Warren, heir to the family fortune, falls in love with her and she becomes a real member of the family in the end.

Miss Fields, who is to appear in the role of "Patsy," will surely be seen to special advantage. It is just such a part in which this clever young woman shows at her best. Of the numerous characterizations in which she has appeared, none seem to bring to the surface her charm of personal character as well as a reflection of real talent. It is safe in predicting that she will make "Patsy" one of the most lovable and pleasing characters of the season. Milton Byron as the son, Maxwell Driscoll as the "lounge lizard" and the others of the cast, including Miss Patricia Knowles, Miss Hill, Chas.
L. Barton and Kenneth Fleming will be all found in congenial roles.

For Irish Relief Fund
Fifty per cent of the gross receipts of Monday afternoon and evening's performances will be contributed to relief of the distressed in Ireland, the sale of seats being under the auspices of a sub-committee appointed at the last meeting, of which Miss Susan Ryan is treasurer, Miss Maria Markham secretary and John Barrett, chairman. In view of the very worthy cause and because of the generosity of the management, it is sincerely hoped that the attendance will be unusually large.
Remember the receipts for Monday afternoon and evening only are to be divided equally. Tickets are selling fast, so that if you plan on attending you should make application at once.

ELECTIONS IN IRELAND

Nationalists and Sinn Fein
Agree on Mutual Candidates—Moderates Dissolve

DUBLIN, April 23.—Moderate organizations formed in southern Ireland to put forth candidates for the southern Ireland parliament and to work out the home rule act, have been dissolved. Members of the Dominion League will not intervene unless the British government promises that the parliamentary elections will be treated as furnishing a constituent assembly, charged with the task of discovering a solution of the Irish problem.

All the elections to be held in northern Ireland will be keenly fought, the Nationalists and Sinn Fein having secured upon mutual candidates, and the full strength of the Nationalist Catholic vote will be polled. Heller is expressed here that the Nationalists will secure 29 out of the 52 seats in the northern Irish parliament but this party's candidates have pledged themselves to refuse to attend meetings of the body, which will, nevertheless, establish itself and appoint judges and officials.

SCOTTISH UNIONS TO JOIN INTERNATIONALE

ABERDEEN, Scotland, April 23.—The Scottish Trades Union Congress yesterday, by a narrow margin, voted to affiliate with the Third International.

FOUR PASSENGER COUPE

Tom Rafter, the local Hummobile agent, has on exhibition at his showrooms as part of his Hummobile exhibit the four passenger coupe that has been commented upon so favorably of late. Many people feel that there has never been a motor car more beautiful than this new, roomy, four-passenger coupe. It is also snug and comfy, appealing especially to women drivers. Like the sedan it is fully equipped with car heater, cord tires, rear-end sun visor, motor-meter, windshield cleaner and sun visor. In addition there are two luggage compartments, one in back of the driver's seat and one on the rear deck. This makes an ideal town or country car in all kinds of weather and lives up to the Hummobile company's slogan, "The Car for the American Family."

KNOWING YOUR CAR

An important thing to consider in buying an automobile is to know that the salesman with whom one is riding is a trained automobile man knowing everything about the particular car he is selling from actual experience either in the factory or the service branch so that in telling about the merits of his car he is able to give first hand reliable information. This training is one of the requirements of the Lowell Oakland company for each and every one of its employees from the service station to the salesforce. All of the salesforce are put through a short course of training and intensive study of the Oakland car, which is followed up by periodical visits to agents by factory men who judge whether the men are ready to take out prospective Oakland buyers for a demonstration. This system has aided materially in giving satisfaction to the Oakland buyer as it gives them a sound knowledge from the beginning.

THE PEERLESS CAR

One of the noted features of the Peerless car, says Alger Johnson, the local Peerless agent, is that it always has the pep and reserve power that makes the steepest and longest hills as easy to negotiate as the level road. This feature is not so noticeable in town driving, but for the autist who cares for cross country driving over unknown highways, this knowledge lends a feeling of confidence that the trip will not be marred by lack of power when needed.

Double Ignition with Eight Cylinders

THE Standard Eight has battery ignition, also high-tension magneto ignition, the two systems being complete and independent, so that you always have one in reserve.

The Standard Eight is alone in its field with this double ignition system.

To win the approval of the public and to win a definite standing in the automobile business, the resources and experience of the great Standard Steel Car Company have been put behind the Standard Eight.

By this time next year a lot of people will be saying, "Why didn't I buy one of those cars?"

FOR IRISH RELIEF FUND

First Annual Dance by Oliver Plunkett Council
Was Big Success

The first annual dance under the auspices of Oliver Plunkett council of the American association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, was held last evening in Lincoln hall and proved most successful. A large crowd was in attendance and enjoyed every minute of the evening's excellently arranged program.

Irish and modern dances were interspersed and it was well into the early morning hours before the orchestra had played its last number. The receipts of the affair are to be turned over to the Irish relief fund.

LOWELL DELEGATE BACK FROM CHICAGO

Michael J. Sharkey of this city has just returned from Chicago where he was the Lowell delegate to the first convention of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic on April 18 and 19. He reports a most harmonious gathering and says that a definite program of work was outlined in the constitution and by-laws that were adopted. The success that has attended the work of the Massachusetts association was reflected at the convention, he says, and the national treasurer, John J. Hearn, and assistant secretary, Thomas W. Lyons, elected to serve for the ensuing year, are both Massachusetts men.

Joseph P. Quinn of Lowell was chosen national director of organizations with permanent headquarters in Chicago. Tomorrow the delegates from the Fifth congressional district will meet in Woburn to hear reports from the national delegates.

SITUATION IMPROVED

Car Production Now Speeded Up for Quick Delivery—Service Station Sells Many Cars

Mr. Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart has just received the glad tidings from the factory that will immediately relieve the minds of prospective buyers of Dodge Bros. cars. The factory is running full time and while deliveries 15 days ago looked like 30 to 40 days away, with the incoming materials that are arriving at the factory daily, it now looks as though on most models of Dodge Bros. cars, deliveries will be made within several days from the date of the order—while on some models they are oversold three to four weeks. This is accounted for by the fact that certain kinds of bodies are obtainable in larger quantities than others. Those for April are keeping pace with March sales and it will undoubtedly be the biggest business the Dodge Brothers have ever had.

It is only natural that Dodge Bros. cars should be one of the first to seek an automobile today to look for a reliable house to do business with. Mr. Rochette states that half of the cars they sell are really sold by the service station on account of the exceptional treatment their customers are afforded, coupled with the fact that they have one of the best used car markets in Lowell in which to dispose of their customers' cars at fair prices. The attractive, used cars offered by this concern, backed up by their service station, conclusively prove that a two or three year old Dodge Bros. car, to their minds is still as good as many new automobiles.

MINNELL ENTERTAINMENT

Those who took part in the minstrel entertainment given recently in Thomas Tabbot hall, North Billerica, by the women of the North Billerica Baptist church, were as follows: "Bert" Ellis, Mrs. Allan Hall, James Morris, Mrs. Edith Stott, Mrs. Carrie Booth, Mrs. Bessie Walker, Mrs. Emma Chambers, Mrs. James Hovarth and Mrs. Gus Anderson. Mrs. Harrison Rabinle contributed a clever reading and the church quartet, H. Rabinle, Sykes Eaton, Earl W. True and Leslie Davidson gave several pleasing selections.

The following committees had charge: Entertainment, Mrs. Carrie Booth, chairman; Mrs. Edith Stott and Mrs. George Chambers; tickets, Miss Della Chambers and Mrs. Frank Walker; candy, Mrs. Frasier, chairman, and Miss Florence Ward.

The Most Beautiful Car in America

The One True Test

The one sure way to determine actual motor car value is by a thorough, exhaustive demonstration.

In the show room, you can tell at a glance whether a car satisfies your artistic demands. The next step, then, is to get out on the road and discover what lies under the hood. Power, Speed and Endurance are qualities of action that only a ride can establish.

We suggest just this course in judging any Paige 6-66 model. We go one step farther, however, and invite you to compare it with any other car—at any price—on the American market. Take the comparative demonstrations first. Then inspect the price tags.

"The Paige-DuPont model, remember, is the stock car speed champion of the world." And the motor that you will find under a 6-60 hood belongs to Paige and Paige alone. Don't forget that.

Inquests into the deaths of John Connor and Hugh Mettrogan, both victims of automobile accidents, were held today at the police court, with Judge John J. Pickman on the bench. Connor, a resident of Oak street, was struck by a machine driven by Dr. Robert L. Jones, of North street, who is now awaiting a hearing on a manslaughter charge in connection with the occurrence. Mettrogan, a well known truckman, was fatally injured by a machine driven by Samuel Inman, who was arrested on manslaughter charges and defaulted.

Prospects of Strike Settlement Brighter

LONDON, April 23.—Delegates of local unions of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain met here today, but it was understood before the meeting that no definite decision relative to the controversy with mine owners, which caused the miners' strike on April 1, would be reached until after leaders of the federation conferred again with Premier Lloyd George on Monday. Mr. Lloyd George conferred with miners' leaders yesterday and at the close of their conversations the situation was considered quite hopeful. It was said the prime minister had appealed to both sides in the mine controversy to renew negotiations regarding the wage question and that the government was disposed to agree to a sort of a national wage pool, one of the chief demands of the miners.

Salvation Army Prisoners Released

NEW YORK, April 23.—Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, today announced receipt of a cable message from London headquarters stating that all Salvation Army prisoners in Russia had been released by soviet authorities. These prisoners numbered about 35 officers, native Russians, who were imprisoned last February. The arrests were made, she said, as a result of effort of Henry Mapp, commissioner of the organization in Russia, to enlist British government aid in London with regard to growing difficulties the workers were having with the bolshevik government.

Commander Booth told of an occasion when Mr. Mapp was questioned by Leon Trotzky regarding the Salvationists' political affiliations. When Mr. Mapp said that his organization was interested only in religion, Trotzky remarked with a gesture of disgust: "That's worse; we want no religion here."

HELENE CHADWICK. SHE POSED FOR MANY ARTISTS AND PHOTOGRAPHERS AND STARTED IN PICTURES AS STAR OF A WESTERN THRILLER.

SHORT FEATURE MOVIES IN FAVOR AGAIN

BY JAMES W. DEAN

Brevity is the soul of it. In many instances it is the soul of worth in photoplays. The foundation of the film industry was the one and two-reel pictures.

Six years ago producers started a race to see who could make the longest films. Thus many stories that might have been depicted with a snap and zest were dulled with a burden of excess footage.

"Kismet," which marked Otis Skinner's first appearance before the camera, is one eminent example of this. When released it was more than 9600 feet long.

Skinner's pantomime in "Kismet" is one of the finest things brought to the silver screen. Critics generally hailed the picture as an artistic triumph, but the public failed to appreciate Skinner's worth because they were weary by many feet of film that showed no action.

London is now acclaiming a series of "Grand Guignol" pictures. They tell a complete story in one reel.

The London Times says, "Those who are led to believe that good drama cannot be satisfactorily unfolded in less than a five-reel film should see how much Fred Paul contrives to pack into a single reel, without ever giving the impression that he is unduly hurried for time."

Now Educational Films announce that they will produce in America serious pictures of two-reels by the most famous authors and interpreted by actors of the foremost rank. No player will be "starred."

Self will make the two-reelers, and he promises that every essential of the five and six-reel feature pictures will be retained. He will screen novels by Sir Gilbert Parker, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Randall Parrish, James Oliver Curwood.

Actors who will appear in the films are Lewis Stone, Wallace Berry, Mary

MacLaren, William Desmond and Ann Forrest.

Helene Chadwick

Helene Chadwick was born Nov. 25, 1897. That was in Chadwick, N. Y., named for her grandfather. Her great-grandfather was Lord Chadwick.

She posed for many artists and started in movies in 1916 as the star of "The Challenge," a western picture. She is a featured player with Goldwyn now.

Richard Dix and Helene have the leads in "Dangerous Curve Ahead," a Rupert Hughes picture soon to be released. Their next picture will be "The Glorious Fool" by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

Helene is five feet five, weighs 129, has light hair and brown eyes. She isn't married, wants to be a pianist, is an enthusiastic swimmer and motorist, owns two cars, and lives at 4228 Sunset boulevard, Hollywood.

PASS IMMIGRATION BILL

House Adopts Measure After Rejecting Amendment to Admit Political Refugees

WASHINGTON, April 23.—After rejecting an amendment seeking to open the doors of the United States to foreign political refugees, the house yesterday passed the immigration restriction bill substantially in the same form it went through last session, only to be given a pocket veto. The bill now goes to the senate.

The measure is designed to be operative over a period of 14 months and would limit the entry of aliens to 3 per cent. of the number of nationalities of any country in the United States at the time of the 1919 census.

These amendments slightly modifying its provisions were adopted by the house, although it was said last night that they might be stricken out by the senate. One would permit admission in excess of the 3 per cent. limit of all aliens clearly proving they had been subjected to religious persecution in their native land and were seeking refuge here solely to avoid such hardships. The second would admit children of American citizens under 18 years of age independent of the passage of limitation, and the third would give preference to the families and relatives of American citizens and former-service men honorably discharged from the army or navy, regardless of whether they had been naturalized in determining the question of admissibility under the restricted total.

The principal fight was over the amendment offered by Representative Sabath, Illinois, ranking democrat on the immigration committee, to open the gates of political refugees. This was lost after a long debate which was closed by Representative Mondell, the republican leader, who said that under it even the former-German emperor could come here.

The question was bitterly discussed. Representative Cockran, democrat, New York, insisting that the former emperor would be met by strong hands ready to throw him in prison. Mr. Cockran declared that the one-time emperor was actually a refugee from the United States.

Immediately after the house had voted the amendment down, Representative Sabath presented another designed to make lawful the entry of Donald J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, and permit him to remain as a political refugee. "The amendment was in the form of a resolution introduced several days ago by Mr. Sabath, but when it was read, a dozen members in all parts of the chamber jumped to their feet with cries of 'point of order.' One was sustained and the bill was passed without reference in any of its sections to the lord mayor.

STRONG OPPOSITION TO GEN. EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Strong opposition on the part of democrats was voiced at a meeting of the senate military committee yesterday to confirmation of the nomination of Brig. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, first commander overseas of the 25th (New England National Guard) division, to be a major general. The subject was discussed at a conference with Secretary Weeks, who urged confirmation while outlining the qualifications of the officers recently nominated by President Harding to be brigadier and major generals.

The opposition to promotion of Gen. Edwards was said to have been based upon his military record, although Secretary Weeks said that the war department files contained no unfavorable evidence in connection with the division some time before the armistice. A more complete investigation of the records, it was said, was suggested, however, and the secretary was requested to supplement information given the committee yesterday at a meeting today. Meanwhile action on all the nominations was deferred.

Gen. Edwards' name headed the list of major generals nominated by President Harding, although the last administration had refused to recommend him for promotion. In reply to all inquiries on the subject, former-Secretary Baker had said that the reasons were on file in the war department.

The name of Omar Bundy, commander overseas of the 1st division, although carried in the list of major generals submitted for confirmation at the last session of congress, was not included in the Harding list, and failure of the war department to name him at this time was criticized yesterday by Senator New, republican, Indiana. He is understood to have made an effort to have the name restored to the list.

Secretary Weeks informed the committee, it was announced, that he did not plan to name a chief of staff or recommend other promotions to the rank of brigadier general until the senate acts on the list of 12 major and 14 brigadier generals now pending. About a dozen more promotions to the rank of brigadier general will be available when the pending list of major general promotions is disposed of.

ASKS $134,000,000 FOR MERCHANT FLEET

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Chairman Benson of the Shipping Board asked Congress today for an appropriation of $134,000,000 to finance operations of the government's merchant fleet during the next fiscal year. He also said another appropriation of $36,552,000 would be needed to permit the emergency fleet corporation to function until July 1.

"In view of present ocean traffic," he said, "the ships of the government's fleet will earn during the first six months at least no net revenue; and due to the financial situation, the market for the sale of ships, plants and materials is so poor that it is not believed probable that any appreciable amount may be obtained from these sources."

The fund requested for operation, he added, would be necessary despite the provision in the last sundry bill giving the board authority during the coming fiscal year to use money on hand July 1, the amount received during the year from the operation of ships, and not more than $5,000,000 derived from the sale of ships and equipment.

AIRPLANES COMPLETE 5000 MILE ROUND TRIP

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Completing a 5000 mile round trip aerial journey to the Dominican republic and return, two marine corps airplanes which left here March 29 arrived safely today at Bolling Field from Fayetteville, N. C. The expedition was escorted from Fayetteville to this city by three other marine corps planes.

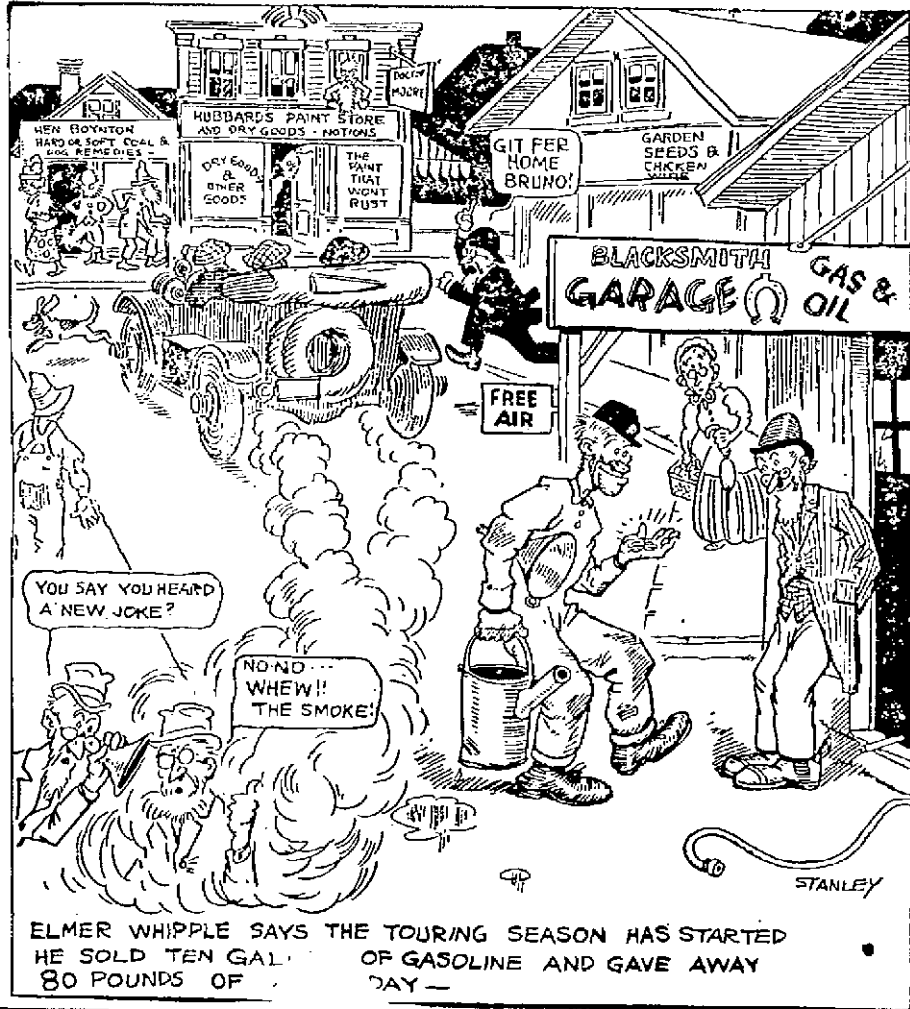

The flight was under command of Major T. C. Turner, chief of marine corps aviation, and the original intention was to blaze an aerial trail from Washington to the Virgin Islands but an outbreak of bubonic plague at San Juan, Porto Rico caused the fliers to turn back from San Domingo.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Application for full pardons for four I.W.W. convicted in Chicago with William D. Haywood, were made today to the department of justice by their counsel, Harry Weinberger of New York. The department was told that there "was not a scintilla of evidence" to show that the four men were guilty of violation of the espionage act or of conspiracy to obstruct the draft.

The men are Charles Ashleigh of New York; Jack Law of Pittsburgh; Vincent St. John of Chicago; and Giovanni Baldazzi of New York, who are ordered to begin their sentences at Leavenworth, Monday.

NOMINATIONS TO R. R. BOARD CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Nominations of Ben W. Hooper, Samuel Higgins and W. L. McMeulen to the railroad labor board, were approved today by the senate interstate commerce committee. Some protests against Mr. McMeulen's appointment had been filed with the committee by representatives of the railroad clerks and slogan and maintenance of way workers who claimed they would be without representation on the board as Mr. McMeulen represented the brotherhood employees.

announcement was made today by the management of the Saco-Lowell machine shops that a wage cut will become effective May 1. The percentage was not stated. About 1500 hands will be affected.

Although no definite announcement of its policy as regards a reduction in wages has been made by the local branch of the Saco-Lowell shops it is understood that a readjustment of pay scales will probably be made in the near future. About 1500 hands are now employed in the Lowell plant.

NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL REPORTED

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The naval appropriation bill carrying $395,000,000 and providing for a reduction in the navy's enlisted personnel from 115,000 to 100,000 men, was reported today by the house appropriations committee. It is expected to be taken up in the house Monday.

The measure carries $20,000,000 for continuing construction work on the capital ships authorized in 1916, the sub-committee having voted against a slowing up of the building after Secretary Denby had expressed vigorous opposition to such a proposal.

REVOLT AGAINST RUSSIAN SOVIET

Organized Rebellion Growing With Renewed Force in Ukraine

Many Towns Taken—Soviets in Campaign of Terrorism—Execute 2000

STOCKHOLM, April 23.—Organized rebellion against the Russian soviet government is growing with renewed force in Ukraine, it is declared in telegrams received here from Petrograd. Peasants engaged in the revolt have taken many towns between the Dnieper and Dniester rivers, where the movement is most pronounced, and they are reported to be engaged in operations intended to force the Bolsheviks eastward to the left bank of the Dnieper.

Ukrainian peasants commanded by General Makno, operating in the Lozovo district, south of Karkhov, have torn up the railway line running between Moscow and the Crimea. The Bolsheviks have concentrated troops in the district north of Kiev, where they have driven back the rebels, and in the neighborhood of Smolensk, northwest of Moscow, have begun a campaign of terrorism. It is reported they have executed 2000 persons within the past few days.

The rebellion is said to be spreading in the regions of Karkhov and Polesia.

A WEEK OF WEATHER OF MANY VARIETIES

A week that was about as full of varieties of April weather as could be crowded into seven days came to an end today with high humidity, lowering sky, and during the morning, intermittent drizzling showers that went through umbrella coverings as though they were of cheese cloth and sent swollen rivulets flowing in the street gutters.

The week had almost as many varieties of weather as any manufacturer of food commodities has ever yet advertised as being on the list of his products. A start was made with cold that made the person who had clung tenaciously to his heaviest "heavies" during preceding warm spells rejoice that he had not yielded to the temptation to discard them, and brought heavy overcoats out to replace lighter coverings. A miniature blizzard of snow that fortunately melted as soon as it fell came with the cold. A slight

New Reparations Proposals To Be Despatched to Washington

Allied Premiers Discuss Plans for Occupation of Ruhr Basis

PARIS, April 23.—Germany's new reparations proposals will be despatched to Washington this evening, according to a Berlin despatch received here this afternoon. The cabinet met during the afternoon, says the message, to make a final draft of Germany's answer to the American note and it is understood the proposals will be embodied in this communication, to be transmitted by tonight.

LYMPNE, April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Briand of France today discussed the French proposals for occupation of the Ruhr basin in the event of Germany's failure to fulfill her reparations obligations, and also the German note on reparations, says an official statement issued tonight.

TABULATING VOTE OF BAY STATE CARMEN

BOSTON, April 23.—Ballots cast by employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, Thursday and Friday on several questions having to do with wage and working agreements and a possible strike were being tabulated today at union headquarters here.

Announcement of the result, union leaders said, probably would be made late in the afternoon.

Five questions were on the ballots. One had to do with the acceptance of a proposition for a wage reduction of about 20 per cent. under agreement between the union and the trustees who control the road, a second dealt with a proposition of the company for arbitration of the wage question without agreement with the union. Two other questions related to the acceptance of the conference board's proposals to the company, including provision for an arbitration plan. In the fifth question the men were asked whether, if no agreement could be reached, they wished to suspend work to enforce arbitration. The date of suspension under this vote would be left to the joint conference board and international officers.

ACTION AGAINST BANK STOCKHOLDERS

BOSTON, April 23.—Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen will take immediate action against stockholders of the Prudential Trust company, now closed, to recover for depositors an assessment equal to their individual stockholdings, he announced today. Announcing that the assets of the savings bank department would not be adequate to meet the claims of the depositors, the commissioner said he would ask for a ruling by the courts on the extent to which depositors in the savings department of an insolvent trust company might participate in the assets of the commercial department.

Defendant Charged With Manslaughter is Discharged—Other Cases

Lawrence Roark, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Daniel Dirinski, 5, was discharged in the police court this morning. An inquest held earlier in the week rendered a finding to the effect that death was not due to criminal negligence on the part of the defendant. The court ordered that the case be dismissed on the grounds of the inquest finding. The Dirinski boy was knocked down by an auto truck driven by Roark on Middlesex street, March 11. He sustained fatal injuries, and died at the Lowell Corporation hospital on the following day.

Other Cases Heard

Daniel J. Murphy pleaded guilty to drunkenness and not guilty to assault and battery on Samuel T. Moore and Maudie Allen. It was testified that Murphy attacked Moore in the course of an altercation about money, and that when the Allen girl came to Moore's assistance she, too, was assailed. Murphy claimed that Moore refused to pay him for some plastering, and that when he threatened to tear down what he had finished, Moore seized him by the throat. After beating all the evidence, Judge Enright lectured Murphy for his "cantankerous" disposition when in liquor, and continued the matter for two weeks to allow the defendant an opportunity to amend his behavior. The case of Abraham Amin, charged with non-support of his wife, was dismissed for lack of prosecution, when

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 23.—Col. Campbell, 30, a messenger for the Wolverine Motor company, was black-jacked by a man while returning from a bank with $4000 today. He fought clear of his assailant and saved the money.

The assault took place a block from the factory, which place Campbell reached before he collapsed. The money was for the payroll. At the hospital Campbell is being treated for possible fracture of the skull.

WOMEN FIGHT TO GET OUT OF CARS

Lexington Avenue Tube Flooded as Hundreds Are on Way to Work

Number of Women Fainted in Wild Scramble to Escape—Traffic Officer Hero

NEW YORK, April 23.—Passengers became frantic and many, including a number of women screamed and fought to get out of cars when a big water main burst and flooded the Lexington avenue subway as hundreds were on their way to work this morning.

The accident occurred near Spring street about 9 o'clock. At 10:30 o'clock officials of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. said the break had been located and pumps were being used to drain the tube.

All trains between the Grand Central station and Brooklyn bridge were halted by the automatic safety block system. Passengers on a stalled express train near the Bleeker street station, a short distance from the scene of the break, left the cars and crossed the tracks on improvised board platforms. Many were drenched when they reached the street.

Five trains stopped near the break. Passengers on one train became frantic. Police said, "Women screamed and fought to get out of the cars. A number fainted. Traffic Officer Harry Kuprian, stationed near Astor place, took charge of the rescue work. Assisted by company employees, he personally saw that more than 600 passengers were taken from the cars and led to exits. Two women and one man remained in one car for some time, saying they were afraid to leave."

Lowell cement dealers have not taken very kindly to the action of Purchasing Agent Edward H. Foye in rejecting all bids for cement for the use of the street and sewer departments during the present season in accordance with a suggestion of the chamber of commerce that some method be devised whereby the city may benefit by the expected drop in the price of this material.

A few days ago Mr. Foye asked local dealers to submit bids on one carload of cement and this morning when bids were opened at 11 o'clock it was found that only two proposals had been received. One was from the Cawley Coal company, and the other from Daniel T. Sullivan. The Cawley company offered a bid of $3.33 per barrel with a 10-cent rebate for each bag and the Sullivan bid was $3.43 per barrel with a 10-cent rebate. The E. A. Wilson company, the low bidder on the supply for the season, did not submit a bid on the single carload. The city will have to pay slightly more for the first carload under the present system than it had accepted the Wilson bid of $3.29 per barrel.

REPORT YACHT AGROUND UNTRUE

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 23.—J. P. Morgan's steam yacht Corsair, reported in despatches from Baltimore to have gone aground off the South Carolina coast, arrived safely off Old Point today from Cuba and Bermuda. Quarantine officers who boarded the yacht said they had no report of her having been aground.

The passengers included a sister of Mr. Morgan, who with three guests left Old Point for New York by rail. Marine men at Old Point think that the wireless report announcing the arrival of the Corsair was garbled in transmission, leading to the report that she was in distress.

Sinn Feiners Seize Mail
CORK, April 23.—Bands of armed men rounded up 50 postmen just as they were leaving the central post-office today, with mail deliveries, and took the mails "in the name of the Irish republic."

The haul, weighing several tons, was removed in carts to an unknown destination. As a result, the entire city and the outlying districts were without mails today. The raid was carried out without attracting the notice of the crown forces on duty nearby.

British Officer Missing

DUBLIN, April 23.—District Inspector Potter of the government forces mysteriously disappeared today, but the automobile in which he had been riding was found on a country road, with bullet marks upon it. Apparently he ran into the same ambush, near Cloughan, county Tipperary, in which a military ration cart was caught last evening.

In this ambush three soldiers were wounded and four horses were killed. The military captured a country cart, a machine gun and a few bombs.

In a county Monaghan today a raiding party burned a freight train. The crew was not injured.

RULES ON BEER AND WINE

Arbitrary Limit on Amount Physician May Prescribe Set

WASHINGTON, April 23.—An arbitrary limit of 4 1/2 gallons of beer and three gallons of wine as the maximum a physician may prescribe at any one time, has been set in new prohibition regulations which await the approval of David H. Blair, the new commissioner of internal revenue.

In making this announcement today Prohibition Commissioner Kramer said that while under Attorney General Palmer's recent opinion the amount of beer or wine prescribed by a physician over a given period could not be eliminated, it was believed that the amount of individual prescriptions could be limited to a reasonable maximum.

It would not be practical, he said, to require a patient for whom two or three bottles of beer a day might be prescribed to obtain a prescription for each day.

Issuance of beer and wine regulations, Mr. Kramer emphasized, would depend entirely upon the decision of the new internal revenue commissioner. Regulations as prepared for his approval, he said, were merely tentative.

Germany's Attitude on Demand for Gold

PARIS, April 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Germany, instead of either agreeing or refusing to transfer the gold reserve of the Reichsbank to occupied territories in the Rhineland, as the allied reparations commission had demanded, has offered to agree not to export or permit the exportation of gold from Germany before Oct. 1, next.

Germany's note in reply to the reparations commission delivered to the commission today, in which this offer is tendered, says her proffered agreement would adequately protect the allies, who had demanded the transfer, because the second paragraph of Article 248 of the treaty of Versailles, prohibiting the exportation of gold, becomes inoperative May 1.

The note was signed by Dr. Von Czerwen, for the war burdens commission. It pointed out that the removal of the reichsbank's gold would act further to depreciate German currency, and further that the gold reserve was not directly under the control of the ministry of finances, but was private property.

The transfer, the note contended, would not serve as a guarantee for reparations payments, as the commission seemed to think, as the depreciation in exchange growing out of it would result in a general economic weakening of Germany.

The second paragraph of Article 248 of the peace treaty reads: "Up to May 1, 1921, the German government shall not export or dispose of and shall forbid the export of gold without the previous approval of the allied and associated powers acting through the reparations commission."

This proviso was intended to prevent Germany, should she feel inclined to do so, from disposing of any of her gold holdings prior to final settlement of the amount and methods of her reparations payments.

CONG. ROGERS FAVORS NAVAL DISARMAMENT FOR NATIONS

Meantime Would Have Navy Second to None—Senator Moses Moves for Memorial to Soldiers in France—Vice President in Strange Mixup With Women

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—Congressman John Rogers has introduced a bill providing for a big navy until such time as an international conference can be called by the president, at which the five great nations of the world would discuss naval disarmament. Mr. Rogers believes the latter step should be taken by President Harding at the earliest possible moment. Authority of congress must first be obtained, so Mr. Rogers put in the dual bill hoping to hasten matters in that direction. The president has made it known that he endorses an international conference along that line, but that he feels the call for it should wait until formal peace has been declared with Germany.

The position assumed by Mr. Rogers is that it would be neither safe nor wise for the United States to disarm until England, France, Japan and perhaps one or two more of the great nations of the world agree to such a course. Until that time comes, Mr. Rogers advocates a second to none navy for the United States.

As Mr. Rogers is a ranking member of the foreign affairs committee and in a position to know the details of our foreign relations and needs in matters of international affairs better than men who can obtain only outside information, his bill is attracting much attention and meets with very general and hearty approval from members of congress. Mr. Rogers calls attention to the need of naval disarmament as soon as possible, in order to lessen the tremendous burden of taxation now resting on the American people. He states that this government is now spending over $5,000,000 a day "as insurance against future wars," and urges a reduction as soon as it is able to do away with such enormous expenditures in way of army and navy forces.

In a talk with The Sun correspondent regarding details of the bill and the need of such action, Mr. Rogers said in part: "Ever since I came to congress I have been in favor of preparedness. I trust the disarmament measures will not be mistaken for sympathy with pacifists."

With existing conditions in Europe, I do not believe there can be any disarmament in the near future. France is in dread of Germany, Poland and other nations of Eastern Europe are in terror of invasion by the Russian Bolsheviks, and other nations feel they must be ready to resort to arms at a moment's notice. Unless Europe disarms it would not be prudent for the United States to do so. But with naval disarmament it is entirely different. Only five or six nations possess navies worthy of the name. They are the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, and perhaps one or two more. If these half dozen powers agree on a naval program it would instantly become world-wide in effectiveness. The important element is how the strength of the United States compares to the strength of other great powers. By agreement to limit armament a great burden of taxation would be lifted from all nations. No nation can afford to fall to keep up its navy and fall back into a position of inferiority. The United States has over 800,000 tons of fleet class fighting vessels. Great Britain has twice that tonnage, and Japan about one-half. Suppose the United States stopped building and

Great Britain and Japan kept on, then we should fall into third place or even lower. In my judgment, such a course would be suicidal. I am not a pacifist but I believe an international program for disarmament should be established as quickly as possible.

The president has no authority to call such a conference without specific authority from congress, so I am urging it shall be granted him without delay. I do not think it necessary to make it a world-wide conference, but only of the great powers, as an agreement could be more quickly reached in that way, and other nations have such small navies or none at all, so their co-operation is not so essential. Such a conference should be held in the United States. General Pershing, General Bliss, Ellice Root and many other men of experience in international affairs believe such a conference would produce direct and instant good. My belief is that the world is yearning for peace, and no country could resist the demands that an effective peace plan be effected. Although the United States is less heavily taxed than are some other nations, it is now spending more than $5,000,000 a day as an insurance against future war, although no war is in sight.

Memorial to Soldiers in France

One of the measures introduced in the senate within a week was by Senator Moses of New Hampshire, who proposes that a splendid memorial shall be erected in France in memory of the American soldiers, sailors and marines who lost their lives in the great war. He asks for an appropriation of $1,500,000 for that purpose and believes the memorial should be of such grandeur and dignity that it will fittingly represent the gratitude of the United States to its heroic dead. Many plans for a memorial to be erected overseas have been submitted at different times, ranging all the way from separate small shafts scattered over France, to one big memorial structure such as is embodied in the Moses bill. There is strong probability some plan will be agreed on at the present session.

Speaker Gillett this week asked railroad rates to be reduced to veterans desiring to attend the Grand Army encampment if it is held in Springfield. Vice President in Comical Mixup

One of the most amusing incidents of the congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, now being held here, was when the president general, Mrs. Miner of Connecticut, and Vice President Coolidge, who was to make the opening address, got their titles mixed. It happened this way. Mrs. Miner is, of course, accustomed to address the officers of that organization as "vice president general." And to Mr. Coolidge, the difference between D.A.R.'s and the D.B. is entirely negligible. And this is what occurred. "I have the honor to present to you the vice president general of the United States," announced Mrs. Miner, as she stepped forward with Mr. Coolidge to whom the title of "general" was a misfit. He ignored the little slip, but some of the audience differed. After turning to Mrs. Miner with a low bow, Mr. Coolidge inadvertently broke even with her by addressing the assemblage of 3000 women as "Daughters of the Revolution," entirely omitting their distinctive title of "American," and thus confounding them with a rival society.

That was too much for the dignity of even representatives of colonial heroes and the whole house laughed outright. Quickly catching the humor of the situation, Mr. Coolidge smiled on Mrs. Miner and remarked, "Apparently we are quits." Then began his address, which was one of the most eloquent of the congress. Another amusing incident was when the ambassador from Great Britain, who had sensed the humor of the Minister-Coolidge incident, followed it up by addressing the great assemblage of women as "D-A-R-lings." And that was left to elap the climax unchallenged.

"RETURN CALL" OF R-34 IS ABANDONED

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Plans for a "return call" on the R-34, Great Britain's monster dirigible which visited America in 1919, by a United States navy navigable balloon of even greater dimensions, have been abandoned at least for the coming summer.

Work on the largest and fastest dirigible ever designed continues at the Philadelphia navy yard, but has been retarded through lack of appropriations, and those in charge of the construction of the great craft of the clouds say it probably will be a year before she is completed.

The airship is usually referred to as being "built" here. As a matter of fact she is being fabricated. Metal parts are being made in the navy's local aircraft factory—metal parts which will be neatly numbered or lettered, and then put in cases for shipment to the place decided upon for assembling them.

Two places are under consideration for the actual bringing of the ship into being. One is Lakehurst, N. J., and the other is Cape May, the southernmost tip of the same state. At Lakehurst the housing conditions for workmen are declared to be good, but the hangars not of the best. At Cape May the situation is reversed. Naval officials recently said that it might be until fall before a decision is made.

The airship will be 300 feet long, 55 feet wide, and will have a possible cruising radius, when unequipped with guns, of 6,000 miles. This will enable it to cross the Atlantic and return without refueling. When fully equipped, the cruising radius will be reduced to 1,500 miles.

Naval officers declare the ship will be superior in every way to the British R-34, the first lighter than air machine to cross the Atlantic. The speed of the craft has not yet been definitely determined.

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizziness during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues," a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

School Training Twenty-five Years Ago and Today

Were the school-children of 25 years ago given a more thorough training than the youngsters of today? Apparently, like so many other matters, it is all in the way you look at it. Back in the nineties, the number of authorized text-books for the Lowell schools were certainly much fewer in number. But the opinion might be defended that a small list of carefully selected volumes, pored over again and again by the child, confer more real learning than a wide variety of books dipped into with more or less exhaustiveness. Of course it is presumptuous for the layman, unacquainted save in a general way with the mysteries of modern pedagogy, to venture an opinion on how the boys and girls should be taught. But doubtless some of the old folks will testify that the old-fashioned method of having a few "readers" and "geographies" and such was preferable to the system in vogue now, of offering a host of works on all subjects touched upon in the school curriculum. According to the annual report of the Lowell public schools for 1919, there were 10 geographies authorized for use in the elementary schools of this city during that year. Besides these volumes, there were 21 more books classed as "geographical readers." As for history, there were eight different books, together with a brace of historical readers. Of plain "readers" there were 25, including such titles as "Boy Blue and His Friends," "Cherry Tree Children," and "Polly and Dolly." Some of the old-timers recall a day when the same reader was coned again and yet again, until its selections were imprinted on the memory for life. These numbers of a former generation are no doubt sure that the reading books of today's schools can't compare with the tones of yesterday. Horace's phrase "laudator temporis acti" is just as expressive in this day and generation as it was when Augustus held his golden sway.

What do the high school children of Lowell read nowadays, by way of history? That's another interesting phase of local education. By referring to the 1919 school report again, we discover scores of volumes listed as authorized text-books in English. We are immediately startled, as we scan this list, not by the books which are present, but by the fact that completely missing from the ranks is "Hamlet." While "Coriolanus" and "Henry Fifth" are included, the greatest work of all is ignored. Another peculiarity which strikes one, is that while Southey's "Life of Nelson" is found, there is not an American biography of any kind. Whittier is omitted and Holmes is represented by "Grandmother's Story."

Plymouth Rock is being protected from the elements by the use of a chemical weatherproof preservative.

Adventures of The Twins

GRANNY CHANGES MIND

MISS HIPPO AGREED AND THE FOUR STARTED OFF

Flippety-Flap played a tune on his mouth-organ called "Over the Hills and Far Away," and all the time he was playing Miss Hippo (not cross Old Granny) watched him with her great stick-out eyes, and listened with her little stick-out ears, and swished her tiny stick-down tail in the muddy river where she was standing.

When the fairman stopped she sighed loudly and said, "Beautiful!" Then Flippety-Flap played another tune and Miss Hippo said "Exquisite!" and by the time he had played five, she had run out of words altogether.

"Ah," she sighed, "What do you call these pleasant sounds, may I ask?"

"Music," answered Flippety-Flap. "Do you like it?"

"Like it?" exclaimed Miss Hippo. "Who could help it?"

"Then," said Flippety-Flap quickly, "how would you like to go to a place where there is a hundred times as much music as this, and live in a tent in a magnificent red-and-gold wagon and have all the food you wish to eat, and—"

"Stop!" cried Miss Hippo eagerly. "Where is this wonderful place?"

Nancy and Nick explained that it was a circus, and that they would take her right away if she cared to go.

Miss Hippo agreed instantly, so the four of them started off.

Just then Old Granny Hippo lifted her head out of the muddy water and saw what was happening.

"Humph!" she snorted. "Humph! Humph! That young upstart of a neighbor of mine thinks she is handsomer than I am, and she's heading for the circus if I'm not mistaken. But I'll see that she doesn't take my place. I'm not too old to be beautiful." And off started Granny at their very heels.

That's why the circus has two rhinos this year instead of one, and if the callings still misses its last note, Granny doesn't dare to say a word.

New York Central Plans Wage Cut

NEW YORK, April 23.—The New York Central Railroad Co., it was reported here last night, has notified practically all classes of its skilled labor of proposed wage and working conditions to be placed in effect May 20. Wage reductions of 20 per cent are proposed, it is said. The company, it was further reported, desires conferences with its skilled employees in regard to the proposed changes. Several weeks ago the New York Central proposed wage cuts to unskilled workers approximating 13 per cent. Conferences between the employees affected and representatives of the road, were held, but failed of agreement and the matter is now before the railroad labor board in Chicago.

Railroads Lost $104,000,000 In 1920

ATLANTA, Ga., April 23.—Railroads of the United States lost $104,000,000 in 1920 from robbery of freight and damage caused to freight, the latter due chiefly to negligence of employees and defective equipment, according to figures presented here today at a conference of 75 freight claim agents and operating officials of railways in the south-east. Loss in robberies alone amounted to approximately $2,000,000 a month, it was declared.

IRISH RELIEF DRIVE WOMEN WHO WOULD RECOVER STRENGTH

Ward Canvass, Carnival Mute Cross and Opera House Benefit

It was a rousing meeting of the Irish relief fund committee that gathered at Elks' hall on Middle street last evening to promote the drive which will be on in earnest next week for a general canvass of the city by wards and reports by a number of organizations that have promised liberal contributions.

James O'Sullivan presided and in opening made an encouraging address based upon the reports thus far received. Mr. Fred H. Rourke, county supervisor, reported that headquarters had been opened at 312 Merrimack street where contributions would be received and official receipts issued for the same. John H. Hynes and Miss Neenan are in charge and will keep the quarters open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., except on Sunday.

Chairman Peter McKenna of the Flying Squadron made an enthusiastic report on the canvass of the downtown district, stating that a number of very substantial contributions had been received which would be published later in the press.

Chairman O'Sullivan announced that he had been notified that several of the organizations which promised to contribute said they would be ready to turn in their contributions next week. The committee arranged to have a meeting next Friday night at which these and other reports will be received and the lists given out for publication.

White Cross Sale

Mrs. Thos. Daly, in charge of the white cross banner sale, reported that she had a large committee ready to go to work today. The white cross window cards or banners are similar to those of the Red Cross and are to be sold for $1 each for the benefit of the fund.

There was a general discussion of the ward canvass which is now in progress and ward 1 is the only district without an organized committee. Mr. Peter McKenna reported that a captain would probably be selected before Monday so that the canvass might proceed next week. All the house-to-house canvassers have credentials, bearing the signature of Fred H. Rourke, and no contributions should be made to any canvasser who cannot show such credentials. Mrs. Beatty, one of the most energetic workers in the district, was appointed to take charge of the canvass in ward 1 and 2, and she stated that she would have to rely for assistance upon President Clark of the Y.M.C. and members of the Paul Kitteredge council, A.A.R.I.R.

Kasino Carnival

Mr. Kelly of the Kasino reported everything in readiness for the carnival to be conducted there next week and enumerated a great many features that are sure to prove quite popular. There will be a midway and new amusement features every night during the week. The committee urged its members and the friends of the movement to use their efforts in making the carnival a great success.

Opera House

Announcement was also made that the manager of the Opera House will donate half the proceeds of Monday's performances to the fund. The play to be offered on that occasion is entitled, "That Girl Patsy," and Miss Field is to assume the role of the little Irish girl. It is needless to comment upon Miss Field's talents as an actress as her ability is well known to the Lowell public. It is expected that the Opera House will be crowded at both performances on Monday.

Dr. Rooney was appointed captain for ward 8 and will have an efficient corps of canvassers start out next week.

Another important event on the program for the fund is a stereopticon lecture upon "Ireland as she is," by Rev. Fr. O'Connor of Cork, Ire., a brilliant young clergyman whose lecture is endorsed by the Daily Herald and other papers of the Irish republic. It is down for May 3 at the Opera House.

Mothers Used To Say

give me the good old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs in preference to the new fangled patent medicines on the market. I remember that when I had indigestion, was constipated, had a headache or my stomach was out of order, my mother would give me an old and reliable remedy called SEVEN BARKS and it would straighten me out in no time, so I always keep a bottle in the home for emergencies.

Colds and Grippe frequently will leave you with weak kidneys and aching back. The kidneys get over-worked fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. When the stomach is out of order, the kidneys and liver not working properly, a few doses of SEVEN BARKS will stimulate the liver and kidneys, regulate the flow of bile, expel distressing acids and dangerous poisons, and quickly restore you back to good digestion.

For nearly half a century SEVEN BARKS has been recognized as one of the most reliable remedies for correcting and preventing disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is absolutely safe, made from the extracts of roots and herbs, scientifically blended.

If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS do not say to do so, and it will be the rapid and wonderful results. Your druggist keeps it or will get it for you.—Adv.

Should Try the Tonic Treatment That Mrs. Bentley Suggests

Mrs. William Bentley, of No. 516 Arch street, New Britain, Conn., says that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful tonic. She was in a condition that is common with many women who are growing weaker and more nervous every day and cannot recover their strength.

"The birth of my child left my system all run-down and my general health broken," says Mrs. Bentley. "It seemed each day that my housework was more than I had the strength to do. My nerves were on edge most of the time and very often I had hard headaches. I worried over small things and had no appetite. I became pale and lost some weight. One day I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the newspaper and bought a box. By the time I had used the first box I was eating heartily and feeling so much better that I determined to keep up the treatment. Very soon I found that I no longer had headaches, was not worrying and that I could do my work with no very great effort. I think that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful tonic and have often recommended them for cases similar to my own."

The headaches and backaches disappear like magic when thin blood is made rich and red. This is due to the new strength and vigor that the re-vitalized blood supplies to the nerves. Tired women everywhere should give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 60 cents per box, postpaid. Write today for a copy of the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

CATHOLIC NEWS

The missions being conducted at St. Michael's and St. Margaret's churches this week by Dominican fathers for the women of those parishes, will come to a close tomorrow afternoon with the usual services, consisting of the recitation of the rosary, sermon, blessing of candles, renewal of baptismal vows and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Tomorrow evening the mission in each parish will open and will continue for a week.

The women's missions have been very largely attended at both churches and the sermons by the Dominican preachers have been both inspiring and eloquent. Large numbers of women have received communion during the past few days.

Tomorrow evening members of the Passionist order will open a two weeks' mission in St. Peter's church. The first week will be for the women and the second for the men.

Eighty-nine girls will be obligated in the Catholic churches tomorrow. Members of the various congregations last Sunday were requested to turn the hands of their watches or clocks forward one hour before retiring this evening.

A class of over 400 boys and girls of St. Joseph's parish will receive the sacrament of confirmation Tuesday, May 3. The ceremony will be conducted in St. Jean Baptiste church at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and it is believed that the girls are in the care of Rev. Augustin Gratien, O.M.I., while the boys are being prepared by Rev. Charles Denzot, O.M.I.

BEN FRANKLIN STATUE ESCAPES DUCKING

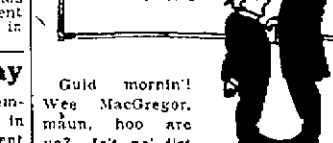

BORTRAMBOY, N. J., April 23.—The Benjamin Franklin statue, en route to Waterbury, Conn., was threatened with immersion in Raritan bay yesterday. The statue, towed on an automobile truck, was being hoisted aboard a navy lighter when the lighter slipped. The truck, then poised six feet above the deck, landed squarely on all four wheels.

More than 10,000 persons, who had gathered to watch the loading, held their breath in suspense. Upon examination the statue was found to be uninjured by the fall. The statue left last night for New York.

CONCORANS DISMISSED

BOSTON, April 23.—Frank L. Concoran, assistant superintendent of the Middlesex county buildings at East Cambridge, and his brother, Charles Concoran, night officer at the same Cambridge jail, against whom a Middlesex county grand jury some weeks ago returned a "no bill" for alleged complicity in the case of "Doc" Bennett, were discharged from the service last night. Both men have been suspended since February 26 last, when they were accused of benefit of accepting money to obtain his parole.

Time for Action and Not "Pow-Wows," Says Stinnes

PARIS, April 23.—"As long as such 'pow-wows' between politicians, whose acts are controlled by the chambers and the press, continue, we shall never get anywhere," Hugo Stinnes, the German financier and industrial magnate, is reported to have told the Intrigant correspondent in Berlin. Herr Stinnes is quoted further as saying:

"Business men should meet and discuss matters without hatred. There must be no more conferences where each member places a loaded revolver in his hand. We must have a consultation of physicians to find a remedy for a sick world which cannot be cured with speeches, flags, music and war whoops."

Viviani's Tribute to American Legion

NEW YORK, April 23.—A wireless message of congratulations to the American Legion, sent by Rene Viviani, now en route to France after a special mission to this country, was made public here today by Marcel Knecht, his secretary, while he was in this country. The message read: "Before returning to France, I cannot refrain from expressing my affectionate greetings to the American Legion, to its national commander, Col. F. W. Galbraith, Jr., and to the commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, my beloved and valiant friend, General John J. Pershing. I shall never forget the enthusiastic mass meeting where I saw in front of me the courageous soldiers assembled to listen to the voice of France. I hail them, and I await expectantly their visit to France this year. Amongst the great people who love them, they will find anew the image of the great country which they honor."

BOSTON, April 23.—The schooner Mayflower, built for the fisheries out of this port and for competition in the international fishing vessel championship races next fall, was ready to go to sea under her own sails today. With masts stepped, sails bent and rigging rove, she was declared ready for her trial trip, but a heavy fog closed in with rain and the trip was postponed until tomorrow.

DAWSON, Y. T., April 23.—Estimates are made that the gold yield of the Klondike this year will approximate $2,000,000. Mining operations will open within two or three weeks. Hydraulic operations will be carried on in the Bonanza Creek and Gold Run Creek also will be dredged. Hundreds of men are employed here and active preparations for the opening of the season are under way.

ELECTIONS IN IRELAND

Nationalists and Sinn Fein
Agree on Mutual Candidates—Moderates Dissolve

DUBLIN, April 23.—Moderate organizations formed in southern Ireland to put forth candidates for the southern Ireland parliament and to work out the home rule act, have been dissolved. Members of the Dominion League will not intervene unless the British government promises that the parliamentary elections will be treated as furnishing a constituent assembly, charged with the task of discovering a solution of the Irish problem.

All the elections to be held in northern Ireland will be keenly fought, the Nationalists and Sinn Feiners having agreed upon mutual candidates, and the full strength of the Nationalist Catholic vote will be pooled. Belief is expressed here that the Nationalists will secure 20 out of the 32 seats in the northern Irish parliament but this party's candidates have pledged themselves to refuse to attend meetings of the body, which will, nevertheless, establish itself and appoint judges and officials.

FOUR PASSENGER COUPE
Tom Rafter, the local Hupmobile agent, has on exhibition at his show-rooms as part of his Hupmobile exhibit the four passenger coupe that has been commented upon so favorably of late. Many people feel that there has never been a motor car more beautiful than this new, roomy, four-passenger coupe. It is also snug and comfy, appealing especially to women drivers. Like the sedan it is fully equipped with ear-heater, cord tires, rebound snubbers, motor-mechor, windshield cleaner and sun visor. In addition there are two luggage compartments, one in back of the driver's seat and one on the rear deck. This makes an ideal town or country car in all kinds of weather and lives up to the Hupmobile company's slogan, "The Car for the American Family."

KNOWING YOUR CAR

An important thing to consider in buying an automobile is to know that the salesman with whom one is riding is a trained automobile man knowing everything about the particular car he is selling from actual experience either in the factory or the service branch so that in telling about the merits of his car he is able to give first hand reliable information. This training is one of the requirements of the Lowell Oakland company for each and every one of its employees from the service station to the salesforce. All of the salesforce are put through a short course of training and intensive study of the Oakland car, which is followed up by periodical visits to agents by factory men who judge whether the men are ready to take out prospective Oakland buyers for a demonstration. This system has aided materially in giving satisfaction to the Oakland buyer as it gives them a sound knowledge from the beginning.

THE PEERLESS CAR

One of the noted features of the Peerless car, says Alger Johnson, the local Peerless agent, is that it always has the pep and reserve power that makes the steepest and longest hills as easy to negotiate as the level road. This feature is not so noticeable in town driving, but for the autoist who cares for cross country driving over unknown highways, this knowledge lends a feeling of confidence that the trip will not be marred by lack of power when needed.

BACK FROM CHICAGO

Michael J. Sharkey of this city has just returned from Chicago where he was the Lowell delegate to the first convention of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic on April 15 and 16. He reports a most harmonious gathering and says that a definite program of work was outlined in the constitution and by-laws that were adopted. The success that has attended the work of the Massachusetts association was reflected at the convention, he says, and the national treasurer, John J. Hearn, and assistant secretary, Thomas W. Lyons, elected to serve for the ensuing year, are both Massachusetts men.

Joseph P. Quinn of Lowell was chosen national director of organizations with permanent headquarters in Chicago. Tomorrow the delegates from the fifth congressional district will meet in Woburn to hear reports from the national delegates.

SITUATION IMPROVED

Car Production Now Succeeded Up for Quick Delivery—Service Station Sells Many Cars

Mr. Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart has just received the glad tidings from the factory that will immediately relieve the minds of prospective buyers of Dodge Bros. cars. The factory is running full time and while deliveries 15 days ago looked like 30 to 40 days away, with the incoming materials that are arriving at the factory daily it now looks as though on most models of Dodge Bros. cars, deliveries will be made within several days from the date of the order—while on some models they are over-sold three to four weeks. This is accounted for by the fact that certain kinds of bodies are obtainable in larger quantities than others. Sales for April are keeping pace with March sales and it will undoubtedly be the biggest business the Dodge Brothers has ever had.

It is only natural that Dodge Bros. cars should be one of the first to feel in early spring shortages on account of the popularity that Dodge Bros. cars has held ever since its inception. It is only natural for customers who seek an automobile today to look for a reliable house to do business with. Mr. Rochette states that half of the cars they sell are really sold by their service station account of the exceptional treatment their customers are accorded, coupled with the fact that they have one of the best used car markets in Lowell in which to dispose of their customers' cars at fair prices. The attractive used cars offered by this concern, backed up by their service station, conclusively prove that a two or three year old Dodge Brothers car is still as good as many new automobiles.

MINUTE ENTERTAINMENT

Those who took part in the minstrel entertainment given recently in Thomas Talbot hall, North Billerica, by the women of the North Billerica Baptist church, were as follows: "Bert" Ellis, Mrs. Allan Hart, James Morris, Mrs. Edith Stott, Mrs. Carrie Booth, Mrs. Bessie Walker, Mrs. Emma Chambers, Mrs. James Heyworth and Mrs. Gus Anderson. Mrs. Harrison Haines contributed a clever reading and the church quartet, E. Itano, Nyles Eaton, Earl W. Truop and Leslie Davidson gave several pleasing selections.

The following committees had charge: Entertainment, Mrs. Carrie Booth, chairman; Mrs. Edith Stott and Mrs. George Chambers; tickets, Mrs. Bessie Walker and Mrs. Frank Walker; candy, Mrs. Frazier, chairman, and Miss Florence Ward.

CALLS NEW PASTOR
FROM CONNECTICUT

The First Congregational church last night voted to extend a call to Rev. Percy Thomas, pastor of a Congregational church in Rockville, Conn., to come to this city and fill the pastorate that has been vacant for several weeks. The position was formerly filled by Rev. Chauncey J. Hawkins, who resigned to take charge of a church in Seattle, Wash.

TWO INQUESTS HELD
Inquests into the deaths of John Connor and Hugh McGrogan, victims of automobile accidents, were held today at the police court, with Judge John J. Dickman on the bench. Connor, a resident of Oak street, was struck by a machine driven by Dr. Robert L. Jones, of Neenah street, who is now awaiting a hearing on a manslaughter charge in connection with the occurrence. McGrogan, a well known truckman, was fatally injured by a machine driven by Samuel Inman, who was arrested on manslaughter charges and detained.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

The One True Test

The one sure way to determine actual motor car value is by a thorough, exhaustive demonstration.

In the show room, you can tell at a glance whether a car satisfies your artistic demands. The next step, then, is to get out on the road and discover what lies under the hood. Power, Speed and Endurance are qualities of action that only a ride can establish.

We suggest just this course in judging any Paige 6-66 model. We go one step farther, however, and invite you to compare it with any other car—at any price—on the American market. Take the comparative demonstrations first. Then inspect the price tags.

"The Paige-Detroit model, remember, is the stock car speed champion of the world." And the motor that you will find under a Paige hood belongs to Paige and Paige alone. Don't forget that.

Prospects of Strike Settlement Brighter

LONDON, April 23.—Delegates of local unions of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain met here today, but it was understood before the meeting that no definite decision relative to the controversy with mine owners, which caused the miners' strike on April 1, would be reached until after leaders of the federation conferred again with Premier Lloyd George on Monday. Mr. Lloyd George conferred with miners' leaders yesterday and at the close of their conversations the situation was considered quite hopeful. It was said the prime minister had appealed to both sides in the mine controversy to renew negotiations regarding the wage question and that the government was disposed to agree to a sort of a national wage pool, one of the chief demands of the miners.

Salvation Army Prisoners Released

NEW YORK, April 23.—Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, today announced receipt of a cable message from London headquarters stating that all Salvation Army prisoners in Russia had been released by soviet authorities. "These prisoners numbered about 35 officers, native Russians, who were imprisoned last February. The arrests were made, she said, as a result of effort of Henry Mapp, commissioner of the organization in Russia, to enlist British government aid in London with regard to growing difficulties the workers were having with the bolshevik government."

Commander Booth told of an occasion when Mr. Mapp was questioned by Leon Trotsky regarding the Salvationists' political affiliations. When Mr. Mapp said that his organization was interested only in religion, Trotsky remarked with a gesture of disgust: "That's worse; we want no religion here."

We welcome requests to show the monument work we have done for citizens of this community. It is a matter of pride with us to show examples of our skill and experience. BY JAMES W. DEAN

Brevity is the soul of it. In many instances it is the soul of worth in photography. The foundation of the film industry was the one and two-reel pictures.

Six years ago producers started a race to see who could make the longest films. Thus many stories that might have been depicted with a snap and zest were dulled with a burden of excess footage.

"Kismet" which marked Otto Skinner's first appearance before the camera, is one eminent example of this. When released it was more than 9000 feet long.

Skinner's pantomime in "Kismet" is one of the finest things brought to the silver screen. Critics generally hailed the picture as an artistic triumph, but the public failed to appreciate Skinner's worth because they were weary by many feet of film that showed no action.

London is now acclaiming a series of "Grand Guignol" pictures. They tell a complete story in one reel.

The London Times says, "Those who are led to believe that good drama cannot be satisfactorily unfolded in less than a five-reel film should see how much Fred Paul contrives to pack into a single reel, without even giving the impression that he is unduly hurried for time."

Now Educational Films announce that they will produce in America serious pictures of two-reels by the most famous authors and interpreted by actors of the foremost rank. No player will be "starred."

Sells will make the two-reelers, and he promises that every essential of the five and six-reel feature pictures will be retained. He will screen novels by Sir Gilbert Parker, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Randall Parish, James Oliver Curwood.

Actors who will appear in the films are Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Mary

MacLaren, William Desmond and Ann Forrest.

Helene is five feet five, weighs 129, has light hair and brown eyes. She isn't married, wants to be a pianist, is an enthusiastic swimmer and motorist, owns two cars, and lives at 4123 Sunset boulevard, Hollywood.

PASS IMMIGRATION BILL

House Adopts Measure After Rejecting Amendment to Admit Political Refugees

WASHINGTON, April 23.—After rejecting an amendment seeking to open the doors of the United States to foreign political refugees, the house yesterday passed the immigration restriction bill substantially in the same form it went through last session, only to be given a pocket veto. The bill now goes to the senate.

The measure is designed to be operative over a period of 14 months and would limit the entry of aliens to 3 per cent. of the number of nationalities of any country in the United States at the time of the 1910 census.

Three amendments slightly modifying its provisions were adopted by the house, although it was said last night that they might be stricken out by the senate. One would permit admission in excess of the 3 per cent. limit of all aliens clearly proving they had been subjected to religious persecution in their native land and were seeking refuge here solely to avoid such hardships.

The second would admit children of American citizens under 18 years of age, independent of the passage of limitation, and the third would give preference to the families and relatives of American citizens and former-service men honorably discharged from the army or navy, regardless of whether they had been naturalized in determining the question of admissibility under the restricted total.

The principal fight was over the amendment offered by Representative Sabath, Illinois, ranking demagogue on the immigration committee, to open the gates of political refugees. This was lost after a long debate which was closed by Representative Mondell, the republican leader, who said that under it even the former-German emperor could come here.

The question was bitterly discussed. Representative Cockran, democrat, New York, insisting that the former emperor would be met by strong hands ready to throw him in prison. Mr. Cockran declared that the one-time emperor was actually a refugee from the United States.

Immediately after the house had voted the amendment down, Representative Sabath presented another designed to make lawful the entry of Donald J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, and permit him to remain as a political refugee. The amendment was in the form of a resolution introduced several days ago by Mr. Sabath, but when it was read, a dozen members in all parts of the chamber jumped to their feet with cries of "point of order." One was sustained and the bill was passed without reference in any of its sections to the lord mayor.

STRONG OPPOSITION TO GEN. EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Strong opposition on the part of democrats was voiced at a meeting of the senate military committee yesterday to confirmation of the nomination of Brig. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, first commander overseas of the 26th (New England National Guard) division, to be a major general. The subject was discussed at a conference with Secretary Weeks, who urged confirmation while outlining the qualifications of the officers recently nominated by President Harding to be brigadier and major generals.

The opposition to promotion of Gen. Edwards was said to have been based upon his military record, although Secretary Weeks said that the war department files contained no unfavorable evidence in connection with his record from the command of the division some time before the armistice. A more complete investigation of the records, it was said, was suggested, however, and the secretary was requested to supplement information given the committee yesterday at a meeting today. Meanwhile action on all the nominations was deferred.

Gen. Edwards' name headed the list of major generals nominated by President Harding, although the last administration had refused to recommend him for promotion. In reply to all inquiries on the subject, former-Secretary Baker had said that the reasons were on file in the war department.

The name of Omar Bundy, commander overseas of Second division, although carried in the list of major generals submitted for confirmation at the last session of congress, was not included in the Harding list, and failure of the war department to name him at this time was criticized yesterday by Senator New, republican, Indiana. He is understood to have made an effort to have the name restored to the list.

Secretary Weeks informed the committee, it was announced, that he did not plan to name a chief of staff or recommend other promotions to the rank of brigadier general until the senate acts on the list of 12 major and 14 brigadier generals now pending. About a dozen more promotions to the rank of brigadier general will be available when the pending list of major general promotions is disposed of.

LIGI IS UNDER FEDERAL GUARD

Police Expect Additional Arrests in Connection With Explosion

Feel Ligi Either Connected With Blast or Knows Those Responsible

SCRANTON, Pa., April 22.—Police appeared confident today that further examination of Tito Ligi, imprisoned here under federal guard, would lead to additional arrests in connection with the Wall street explosion of last September. They planned to question the prisoner further today, in an effort to learn whether he knows the radicals whom they believe responsible for the blast.

Ligi was held in $10,000 bail at a hearing yesterday before a federal commissioner on charges of evading the draft. His trial was set for May 2 at federal court at Harrisburg. In asking that high bail be fixed, District Attorney McCourt said he believed that Ligi either was directly connected with the Wall street explosion, or knows who was responsible for it.

Witnesses at the hearing quoted Ligi as denying he had ever been to Patterson, N. J., but admitting he had a friend there. It was from that city, police have said that the "death wagon" came.

Ligi's whereabouts on September 16, the day of the explosion, have not been learned. Investigators here announced they have established that he was in Scranton on Sept. 3, but that his movements from that time until three weeks later were unknown.

M'KNIGHT'S WIFE AND PARTNER MADE $14,000

BOSTON, April 23.—Speculation in street railway stocks directly before and after passage of the Elevated public control act in 1918 netted about $14,000 to Frances M. McKnight, wife of John T. McKnight, law partner of Edwin T. McKnight, who was 1919 president of the Fidelity Trust company.

More than $9000 of this amount went to Eaton, two of whose checks were indorsed to the Fidelity by "Eaton & McKnight."

Sales were made on May 22, the date Gov. McCall signed the bill, and large amounts on the 27th, when the bill was signed into law.

Evidence to this effect was presented to the "L" inquiry committee in the state house yesterday by Auditor Edwin L. Priddy after McKnight himself had spent half a day on the witness stand.

McKnight disclaimed any personal interest in the Eaton or Frances McKnight accounts, but admitted:

"I told her I thought there was a chance for her to make some money. I said I thought the bill was going through and she would have an opportunity to make some money."

He would not deny that he purchased street railway stocks himself, but didn't remember any instances, in case he did, he said, he defended it.

McKnight took a fling at Martin Lonsdaley during his testimony, and when the democratic leader arose in an attempt to reply Chairman Griswold ordered him to "sit down." He did.

Scrap at the Zoo

his time to the work, is now the sole protection which the bear, the pony, and the several deer have from youngsters who only pleasure in the city's zoo comes from tormenting the unfortunate animals.

Yesterday, according to an official of the park department, some mischievous youngster threw a dog into the enclosure where the bear is kept, with the result that bruin and the invader had a heated battle until separated. It is stated that the police will be asked to take action in keeping the offenders responsible for such annoyances away from the park. It is rumored that several candidates for a place on the city's payroll are anxious to assume the job of caring for the animals, but the statement of Chairman Weed apparently indicates that unless the police authorities are able to protect the bear, the pony, and the deer from the trouble-makers who seem bent on making life miserable for the unhappy creatures, the latter must depend on what attention the employees now assigned to their care can spare from their other duties. The Humane society was notified yesterday when the canine intruder was unwillingly cast into the lair of the bear. That organization in turn conveyed information of the occurrence to the park department, but no action for the safeguarding of the welfare of the animals by that body had been heard of. It is merely stated that police aid will be invoked if there is a continuance of the disorder—"disorder" apparently referring to the pestering and chaffing of the defenceless denizens of the zoo.

POTHIER GRANTED EXTENSION OF TIME

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 23.—Roland T. Pothier, of Central Falls, R. I., former sergeant in the 103rd Engineers, accused of killing Major Alexander P. Cronkite, at Camp Lawton, Wash., in October, 1912, today was given an extension of time to report to the federal grand jury at Tacoma, Wash.

When he was released on $10,000 bonds here, several weeks ago, after pleading guilty to involuntary manslaughter, he was ordered to report to the federal grand jury, which convenes at Tacoma on May 2. Pothier and his counsel returned here today from Washington, where they conferred with the attorney general on the question of an extension of time. After a conference here this morning with United States District Attorney Cannon and Judge Arthur L. Brown, it was agreed to extend his time until July 2 because of the health of his wife. He will give a new bail on Monday for appearance at Tacoma on that date.

READY FOR BIG CARNIVAL

Many Features Planned for Irish Relief Carnival at The Casino

Lowell's big carnival at the Casino for the benefit of the local Irish relief fund will get under way next Monday evening to continue all week and the committee in charge of the affair announced today that no stone had been left unturned to make the carnival one of the most successful enterprises of its kind in years.

The spacious hall at the Casino is being transformed into a veritable midway and visitors there Monday evening will think that they are on the South common during the Fourth of July season so realistic will be the effect of the arrangements. Numerous booths will be strung along the sides of the hall and energetic salesmen will "bark" their wares. Everything that the South common vendors have to offer during the holiday season will be on hand with the possible exception of merry-go-rounds.

In addition there will be general dancing each evening together with exhibition dancing, Irish jig dancing, concert features in which the best of available talent will appear, and general entertainment.

There will be special features for each evening of the carnival and if a person goes every evening, he will not be bored by seeing and hearing the same things at every visit. Only a nominal admission charge will be made so that the greatest possible number of people may attend.

The committee in charge of the carnival consists of Fred H. Bourke, Peter J. McKenna, Owen A. Monahan, William A. Walsh and James Murphy.

In the Police Court

The wife failed to appear against him.

The case of Edward F. Keefe, charged with assault and battery on his wife, Annie V. Keefe, was dismissed at the wife's request. She was admonished by Judge Enright against preferring such charges and then withdrawing them, having repeated this course of action on two occasions.

The case of Benjamin Cohen, charged with assault and battery on Saul Schulman, was continued to April 29, when counsel for Schulman stated that the latter possessed religious scruples against appearing in court on the Jewish Sabbath. Cohen objected to this date, as he said it would prevent him from attending school, but the court nevertheless appointed that day.

Liquor Case Continued

The case of Charles Pelletier, charged with illegal keeping of a liquor, was continued today in the police court for the second time. A hearing of the case will take place April 28.

The case of Anthony Caldera, arrested on a charge preferred by a girl, was continued to April 26. The case of Michael Roberts, charged with neglect of his wife and seven children, was continued to May 13 for disposition.

The cases of James Morin and Philip Sullivan, both charged with illegal keeping were continued to April 29.

Fred L. Woodward, after a few days' sista in jail, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty this morning on drunkenness charges. He was fined $15 and given one month to pay.

The case of Daniel O'Connell, charged with assault and battery on Owen Caldwell, was dismissed, civil satisfaction having been made. O'Connell is said to have assailed Caldwell while the latter was assisting Officer Conroy in making an arrest.

Assault and Battery

Lillian Saba appeared in court charged with assault and battery on Mrs. Katherine Connors. The Connors woman took the stand and testified to being attacked by the defendant, and to having had her hair pulled out in the conflict which ensued. Mrs. Connors produced a package which, she declared, contained hair uprooted from her scalp by the hands of the defendant. The Saba woman, said the witness, was "sore" because witness had spoken of jake being sold at the defendant's store. But witness denied making a continued outcry of "Moonshine, moonshine, jake, jake!" prior to the alleged assault. The defendant, however, declared that Mrs. Connors persisted in exclamations of "jake" and "moonshine" until exasperated, the defendant gave voice to the taunt, "There are better people than you in Worcester!" At this point, according to the defendant, Mrs. Connors "smashed" her. The defendant's little daughter here interposed, saying: "Don't strike my mother!" Reaching across her daughter's head, said the defendant, she seized Mrs. Connors by the hair of the head. Witnesses for the prosecution told of hearing Mrs. Connors cry "Let go my hair!" while defence witnesses described names of uncomplimentary nature being applied to Mrs. Saba by the Connors woman. Judge Enright found that the defendant was guilty, but declared that the circumstances were peculiarly aggravating and placed the case on file on payment of costs.

The automobile was badly damaged, but the occupants escaped with relatively few serious than a bad shaking-up. The accident occurred shortly after 6 o'clock when the automobile, owned and operated by E. Marshall, of 112 Woburn street, backed out of the garage and onto the electric car tracks and was struck by an oncoming electric car operated by E. Marshall. "I think Father John's Medicine is one of the best tonics a child can take. My boy, seven years old, has been greatly benefited by its use. He used to be subject to throat trouble, but now his throat seldom bothers him. It builds one up when they have a cold and I believe that is why he is so well and healthy. He was pale, but now has a good color. I cannot say too much in praise of Father John's Medicine." Signed, Mrs. H. W. Hawes, 41 Norton Street, Lynn, Mass.
